WILLKIE SET WITH ANSWERS TO ROOSEVELT

G. O. P. Nominee Plans Quick Replies to All Speeches by President.

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN ENROUTE TO WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 25 — Wendell L. Willkie served notice today that he would reply to any "political speeches" by President Roosevelt within 48 and probably within 24 hours of their delivery.

The Republican presidential nominee made the announcement as his campaign train turned back east from Akron, O., where he said last night that he sought to end "this era of bad feeling" between industry and labor.

The exact time of the replies will depend on availability of radio hook-ups.

Speaking this morning in Jamestown, N. Y., Willkie told an audience in the high school stadium that "this is the campaign of 1940 and not the campaign of either 1932 or 1936. This is likewise an American campaign in which we are primarily interested as American pursuits."

He stood under a tent to protect him from a heavy mist. Police Captain Oscar F. Nelson estimated the crowd at 12,000.

What About Fifth Term

Willkie said he wanted to repeat a question he previously has asked President Roosevelt: "Since he has refrained from any statement of his belief about a third term for any President, I would like to know what he thinks about a fourth term. I wish he also would discuss with us his views on a fifth term."

If the President contends that a foreign crisis requires his continuation in office, Willkie added, he should remember that there were acute foreign problems when George Washington retired.

Willkie said that President Roosevelt told congress last June "Go home, go home, there is no need of staying here because I can handle the international situation."

"Did you hear him say, 'You must stay in session to appropriate money for the defense of America?'" the nominee asked. "He said, 'Go home, go home.' Yet if congress had not stayed in session there wouldn't be a dollar appropriated for that defense program today."

Willkie asserted that "I don't want to live in the dead past—I want to live in an alive America of today and tomorrow."

Says Recovery Delayed

The candidate argued that "tinkering boys down in Washington had hampered recovery.

"We can develop an expanding America where there will be an absolute shortage of persons to fill the jobs," he added.

Willkie already has arranged a full itinerary for the closing period of the campaign. On today's program were speeches at Jamestown, Elmira and Binghamton, N. Y., and Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The latter will be an evening address.

He will go back to New York City tomorrow.

Next week he will visit Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware, with evening speeches at Louisville Monday, Charleston, W. Va., Tuesday, Baltimore Wednesday and Camden, N. J., Thursday.

Willkie's campaign last night in Akron where he was a lawyer in the 20's included talks in three auditoriums. Two were composed

Draft Officials Get Instructions As Lottery Nears

Two of Marion county's three draft boards yesterday received telegrams from Adjutant General Gilson D. Light, head of the state selective service board, advising them on last minute preparations before the national lottery Oct. 29.

The third board, Board No. 2 for Wards 4, 5 and 6, was expected to receive shortly the instructions and also new supplies, which have already been sent to the other boards. The other boards are No. 1, representing Wards 1, 2 and 3, and No. 3, for the rural area.

Questionnaires Here

Boards No. 1 and 3 each received approximately 1,000 of the questionnaires which will be mailed out first to men with low order numbers after the lottery next Tuesday. They also received other types of supplies.

Saturday, according to available information here, the boards will close their registration lists as far as the lottery in Washington is concerned.

All men who have not registered by Saturday or whose registration cards from out of the county have not been received here will not be represented in the draft drawing.

However, this does not mean that such tardy cases will avoid the draft.

When the draft boards receive a registration card after the lot-

As Hardin Co. Husker Won Title

Chester Collins of South Of Kenton Standing Corn Champ

State Crown Goes to 24-Year-Old Tenant Farmer; Contests Here One of Most Successful Ever Held.

By BOB BYRD

Chester Collins, 24, of Hardin county won the state standing corn husking contest yesterday, scoring a narrow margin victory in one of the hardest-fought husking battles in the recent history of statewide competition.

Collins, a lithe, vigorous husker who combined stamina with speed and a rhythmic routine that sent ears crashing against the bangboards at a rate that reached 53 a minute, husked 2,021.4 pounds of corn—28.8 bushels.

This was only 49.35 more pounds than second-place George Sunday, 34, of Paulding county turned in. Sunday, in turn, won second place over Mearl Bartee, 26, of Licking county by the narrow margin of 50.35 pounds. Bartee finished third.

Collins won his title as much by thoroughness and cleanliness as in the gross amount of corn he husked. His gross load of corn weighed 2,035 pounds, and deductions for gleanings and overlooked wisps of husk amounted to 63.6 pounds. Sunday, who finished second, husked more than Collins by a margin of 30 pounds, but his deductions soared to 142.95 pounds, which gave Collins the title. Collins, incidentally, had fewer deductions than any other husker excepting one, and the one who husked cleaner than Collins must have taken too much time to be thorough for he finished 14th.

Although Collins seemed to be "burning up the field" yesterday, he didn't think he had done anything unusual, for in qualifying for the state contest by winning the Hardin county competition recently he husked 30.8 bushels, or two more bushels of corn than he totaled yesterday. He was one of three huskers who had outdistanced the field as they moved down the long rows near the end of the contest. He only took time out twice, both for gulps of water, part of which he sprayed over his hands to help him in his husking. He used a corn hook, but did not wear gloves.

Came from Logan County

Collins lives three miles south of Kenton on state route 68. He and his wife, Luanna, 21, who won the women's husking championship of Logan county last year, live on a 160-acre farm owned by W. H. Buttolph. Collins has operated the farm since last March when the couple moved from Logan county.

He had been in husking competition for four years but this was his first try at a state title. He is a native of Kentucky, spent his early life in Indiana and came to Ohio six years ago. His mother, Mrs. Myrtle Coffel, lives at Lakeview in Logan county.

One of the contestants Collins defeated yesterday was an older brother, Edward Collins, 28, of Logan county, who was makin' his third try for a state title. He finished fifth yesterday, two notches lower than the third-place berth he won in the state contests of 1938 and 1939.

Former Champ Distanced

Surprising to many of the spectators was the fact that John Feehan, 34, of Henry county, the 1939 state champion, was shoved down to twelfth place yesterday. Feehan made a good showing with 1,688.3 pounds or 24.1 bushels, but the pace was too lively for him to finish near the top. Incidentally, Feehan's uncle, T. J. Feehan, 48, of Wood county, who was runner-up in the 1937 contest, finished eighth with 1,794.5 pounds or 25.6 bushels.

Clayton Burroughs, 25, of Fulton county, came to Marion county yesterday on a gamble. He had finished twentieth among the county champions this year and wasn't entitled to take part in the state contest unless one of the regular contestants failed to arrive. He was moved into competition when Ralph Bruns of Butler county failed to appear. He finished thirteenth.

Collins, during the one hour and twenty minutes of the contest, had the vociferous backing of a large

URGE TO KILL LEADS TO FATAL STABBING

Cincinnati Dishwasher Takes Life of Boy.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 25—A man walked into Central police station today, declared "I've wanted to kill someone ever since last October," then led officers to the body of 10-year-old Clarence Stevens, in the basement of Holy Name school in residential Mount Auburn.

Detective Chief Emmett D. Kirgan said the boy, a third-grade pupil in the school, had been stabbed to death.

The suspect's shirt was bloodstained. He gave his age as 27.

Major Edgar Hartman said the man walked up to him, calmly announced "I've just killed a boy in Holy Name school," and added "I stabbed him."

Shows Blood Stain

"If you killed someone," Hartman countered, "where's the blood?"

The man rolled back one coat sleeve to show a still wet-stain.

Sergt. William Burks and members of the homicide squad took the suspect to the school.

In a storeroom in the rear of the basement they found young Stevens' body, under it a butcher knife.

The suspect, whom Major Hartman identified as Guy Willie Ponder, has been employed as a dishwasher at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and told officers he was confined in a hospital about two years ago for mental observation.

Hartman quoted him as saying he had been adjudged to "have the mind of a nine-year-old child."

Ponder told officers he entered the school basement, which houses a cafeteria and auditorium, about 8 a. m., found the Stevens boy there and seized him.

Knife Through Throat

The lad screamed, but was dragged over a two-foot platform into the storeroom. The knife had been plunged through the youth's throat, Hartman said.

"I've been drinking whisky since Monday," Ponder said. "Once I asked a cop to lock me up."

The suspect told detectives he was born in Decatur, Ala., came to Cincinnati in 1934, and had resided with his mother, Mrs. Anna Collier. His father, W. G. Ponder, is in Alabama, he said.

Police record show that Ponder was arrested July 11, 1936, on a disorderly conduct charge. He was accused of having molested small boys in the neighborhood where he then lived. Ponder was sent to the city's general hospital for observation and later fined.

U. S. IS KEEPING CLOSE TAB ON FRENCH PARLEY

Welles Holds Conference with Vichy Ambassador in Washington.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—France's fate—and hourly expected developments which might have a vital effect on American interests—were under close state department study today following the dramatic conference "somewhere in occupied France" between Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Marshal Petain, chief of the French state.

Undersecretary of State Welles and Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador, conferred at the state department last night after swiftly moving diplomatic moves abroad left no doubt that a major decision concerning Europe's future hung in the balance.

No official announcement of the Welles-Henry-Haye talk was made, but it was understood in informed quarters they had engaged in a general discussion of problems which might arise as a result of closer collaboration—or even active partnership—between conquering Germany and conquered France.

Points of Interest

Officials here were particularly intent, on any factual developments, resulting from the Hitler-Petain meeting, which would have an effect on specific American interests. For example:

1—Any new disposition of the French fleet which, if turned over to Germany might become an actual or potential menace to American security.

2—Any change in the status of France's colonies, especially the possessions in the western hemisphere.

The United States also is vitally interested in Dakar, French naval base in Africa which might be utilized by the axis for submarine attacks in the South Atlanta sea lanes between Europe, Africa and South America.

Question of Gold

3—Negotiations which the French government is understood to have in progress for release of part of the $27,000,000 French gold hoard "frozen" by President Roosevelt's order.

4—Negotiations aimed at securing the friendly cooperation of the United States government in obtaining Great Britain's permission for food to be sent through the British blockade to unoccupied France.

5—The American government's efforts to repossess the 100 or more American-made war planes now at Martinique, French island in the Caribbean, where they were taken by the French aircraft carrier Bearn at the time of France's collapse.

ROOSEVELT EXPECTS TO SERVE FULL TERM

Declares Intention in Response to Press Query.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—President Roosevelt told his press conference today that he intended to serve out the whole four years if he is elected to a third term.

The President made the statement in reply to a reporter's question concerning his speech at Philadelphia Wednesday night in which the President said his objective in the next four years would be to make work for every young man and woman "a living fact."

The reporter asked:

"Does this mean that, God willing, you intend to serve the full four-year term if reelected?"

"Of course," Mr. Roosevelt said with a smile.

He then volunteered that the newsmen could quote him directly on that, and added he was glad the reporter had put in "God willing."

The President, in response to further questioning, repeated that as long as the international situation continues as it is at present, he would not go more than 12 hours away from Washington to campaign.

The President said that if the

Second Marion Flier Signs Up For Royal Canadian Air Force Service

Donald J. Maskill of Olney Avenue To Report for Duty Soon at Windsor, Ont.

Donald J. Maskill of Marion will leave tonight for Windsor, Ont., where he will report for duty in the Royal Canadian Air Force, thus becoming the second Marionite to join the armed forces of the Dominion.

Harold Cobb, operator of Marion airport for 10 years, recently was commissioned as a flight officer and now is serving in the RCAF.

Mr. Maskill, 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Maskill of 316 Olney avenue, has been flying here for about three or four years and has a record of about 50 hours of time in the air.

To Get Year's Training

In Canada, Mr. Maskill will receive a year's flight training. At the end of that time he can return to the United States "without any strings," he understands. His U. S. citizenship is not affected.

In order to join the RCAF, a decision all his own, he first had to obtain permission of his local selective service board here to leave the country. The board granted him a six-month deferment at a special meeting last night, when he stated his case. On arrival at his post of duty, Mr. Maskill will notify his draft board here and also have his commanding officer send the board verification. At the end of six months the local board, No. 2 (for Wards 4, 5 and 6) will consider his application for another six-month deferment.

Mr. Maskill understands that his year of training in the RCAF will not excuse him from training under the U. S. selective service act, but he believes that it will make him a far more valuable addition to his country's forces.

"If I should stay here," he explained "I wouldn't have any choice as to where I would go in the army. But with a year's training in military flying, I can just about pick the air force."

He feels that way about flying. Three or four years ago he took his first airplane ride at the Marion airport with Mr. Cobb. He liked it so well that the next time he went up he was taking instructions in a regular flying course.

The U. S. air corps was barred to him because he lacks the necessary two years of college training. Hence, not wanting to throw away his flying experience, he decided to join the RCAF.

After the end of his year's training in Canada, he isn't sure what he will do. His agreement with the draft board here is for a year only. However, if he passes Canadian requirements, he may be offered a rank in the RCAF similar to that of lieutenant in the U. S. air corps.

Intensive Training

The intensive training in Canada, which will undoubtedly cover various types of military ships from little pursuit planes to giant bombers, will open the door of commercial aviation to Mr. Maskill. In past years a large percentage of the graduates of U. S. military training schools have gone into the commercial field.

Mr. Maskill will leave for Canada by bus tonight and report at 9 a. m. tomorrow at Windsor for a final checkup before reporting for duty Monday.

He filed his application last August while on a vacation trip in Canada but did not receive his notice to report until this week.

Mr. Maskill is a 1933 graduate of Harding High school. For the last three years he has been employed as a driver for the Omar Baking Co., covering the west part of Galion.

His father is employed as a car foreman for the Erie Railroad here. He has two sisters, Miss Dorothy Maskill and Mrs. James Rairdon, both of Marion.

TOTAL IN FUND DRIVE $20,439

Workers Aim To Go Over $26,000 Mark in Tonight's Report.

Quota	$31,000
First Report	17,013
Last Night's Report	3,426
Total Reported	20,439
To Raise	10,561

Marion's Community Fund workers today centered their effort on hitting the $26,000-mark for their third report tonight at 6:15 at the Masonic Temple.

At the second report meeting last night only $3,426 was turned in, bringing the total so far to $20,439 or 65 per cent of the $31,000 quota. This leaves $10,561 to be raised by the final report Monday night.

Yesterday the campaigners apparently rested up after the initial report of $17,013, which was a record for any Community Fund campaign report here in recent years. The corps of auditors—Kenneth E. Fields, C. W. Smoot, Kenneth Tobin, Robert N. Heininger, Lowell Williams and E. Paul Bachman—was kept busy four or five hours checking the figures. Last night with only $3,426 to go over, their job was far shorter.

Seek $5,500 By Tonight

When the reports were all in last night, Frank Zoll, campaign director, set a goal of $5,500 for the workers to report tonight, which would boost the total to approximately $26,000.

Tonight's meeting, incidentally, will be over by 7:30 p. m. so that workers who wish to attend the Harding-Shelby football game will be able to do so, J. E. Oliphant, general chairman, announced. The meeting will start at 6:15 in the Temple.

Last night's session opened with invocation by Rev. S. M. Ingmire, pastor of Epworth Methodist church. Music was furnished by Morris Kline's orchestra and songs were led by Howard Somer.

Praises Worker

Mr. Oliphant opened his remarks with a tribute to Elmer J. Schoenlaub, chairman of the initial gifts division and a veteran campaigner. Mr. Oliphant said he chose this time to praise Mr. Schoenlaub, because Mr. Schoenlaub was absent. He referred to him as "a man who works for all the workers."

"He is a money-getter who can go out and secure a certain type of money that may belong to your group."

"I know we all appreciate the things this man has done," Mr. Oliphant said.

Turning to the campaign, he said "I don't know how we'll come out tonight. It may be that we haven't recovered from our last night's good, excellent, fine report. Maybe we got just a little too elated about it."

He expressed confidence, however, that the goal would be reached by Monday night, as originally planned.

Louis E. Michel took over at this point to distribute attendance prizes which were won by Mrs. E. O. Smith, Mrs. Harold Bracy, George Stafford, Mrs. George Alber and George How-

The sale will be in charge of Lester Watt, past commander, assisted by the members of two teams of girls from Harding High and Thomas A. Edison Junior High schools. Proceeds will go to carry on the club's child welfare program.

Saturday night the club will have open house at its club rooms on West Church street, in observance of Navy day on Sunday. The public has been invited to attend. A Navy day program will be given.

JOHN L. LEWIS TO GIVE CAMPAIGN TALK TONIGHT

Campaign talks on the radio tonight will be highlighted by one by John L. Lewis, head of the C.I.O., who is expected to make known his choice between President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie. His talk, at 9 o'clock, is to be broadcast over the MBS, CBS and WEAF-NBC networks and will be carried by several major stations in this section of the country.

Other campaign talks to be broadcast tonight and tomorrow night include: Henry A. Wallace at 8:30 over MBS; former Gov. Frank Lowden at 8:30 over WEAF-NBC; Irvin S. Cobb (Democrats for Willkie) at 9:30 over CBS; Ed Flynn, national Democratic chairman, at 9:45 over WJZ-NBC; Daniel Tobin at 10 over WEAF-NBC; Harold L. Ickes at 10:30 over WEAF-NBC; Wendell Willkie from train at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. at 10:30.

MUSSOLINI TO MEET PETAIN AND FUEHRER

Italian Planes Join Nazis in Bombardment of England Today.

By The Associated Press

Italy stepped belatedly into Adolf Hitler's secretive and personally - conducted negotiations for a "new order" in Europe today with reports that Premier Mussolini will soon meet France's Premier Marshal Philippe Petain.

Another meeting between Hitler and Mussolini was believed likely, according to diplomatic sources in Bern, Switzerland — the same quarters which disclosed Hitler's mystery-shrouded meeting with Petain yesterday.

Nazi authorities meanwhile reported 82,000 German school children under 14 years of age have already been removed from Berlin "to escape recurrent losses of sleep" due to British RAF bombing raids, and that another 30,000 will follow.

In addition, 42,000 children have been removed from Hamburg, in North Germany, which RAF warplanes have attacked almost nightly.

The Berlin exodus represents about 10 per cent of the city's 650,000 school children.

Italians Raid England

With Italian warplanes joining the assault on Britain for the first time, London underwent a series of violent, rapid-fire attacks today, suffering apparently heavy casualties.

More than a score were killed or wounded when a stick of bombs smashed two streetcars on a crowded London thoroughfare, exploding between the two cars on parallel tracks.

The motorman of one car was killed, and another stick of three bombs wrecked a bus, wounding the conductor.

The German capital also experienced the terror of bombs hurtling from night skies as British RAF bombers, striking through low-hanging clouds, gave Berlin its second night raid in a row. The Germans acknowledged a number of casualties were inflicted and that "several fires" were set.

Germany's great northern port of Hamburg, where warships are under construction, also felt the lash of bombs marked "made in Britain," with a Nazi communique commenting tersely that "fires were set and other property damage resulted in the harbor and some sections" of the city.

On the diplomatic front, attention focussed on the status of France as Premier Marshal Philippe Petain, 84-year-old chief of the vanquished republic, was reported enroute to Vichy to inform his ministers on the outcome of a dramatic meeting with Adolf Hitler.

Amid strict official secrecy, some sources said, France finally has agreed to a "limited" cooperation with Germany in return for easing of the Nazi yoke.

Claim It's for Peace

In Berlin, authorized sources said the Hitler-Petain meeting in the German fuehrer's railway car "somewhere in France" yesterday provided "new evidence" that we are trying to put Europe back on her legs under axis leadership—independent of exterior influences which have been trying to stick their noses into affairs which don't concern them."

A Nazi spokesman, asked to specify these outside "influences," said:

"For the present, it is England. Our fight is against whoever opposes European peace. The nightmare of interference will be dispelled."

Coincidentally, dispatches from Rome said a four-power conference was scheduled for next Monday, probably in Bucharest, with delegates from Germany, Russia, Italy and Rumania. The nature of the conference was not disclosed.

World attention focussed today on the status of conquered France while official silence cloaked the nature of yesterday's historic meeting between Adolf Hitler and Marshal Philippe Petain, aged French chief of staff.

Observers in the temporary French capital of Vichy looked for an early announcement of France's new place in the European order being designed by the axis powers.

United States officials expected early developments which might have a vital effect on American interests and authoritative sources in Washington said plans were ready for United States protection of French western hemisphere possessions if French collaboration with the axis made such action advisable as a measure of hemisphere defense.

BLAMES PANIC ON NEW DEAL

Hoover, in Columbus, Charges Roosevelt Checked U. S. Recovery Road.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 25—Former President Herbert Hoover accused the New Deal last night of creating a "bank panic" in 1933.

He told a radio audience that "we were on the way to recovery" when Franklin D. Roosevelt succeeded him as president.

Then, he added, "Mr. Roosevelt violated a promise not to tinker with the currency, and created a bank panic in the United States."

Hoover criticized the President for "smearing" the preceding Republican administration in Wednesday night's speech.

"Mr. Roosevelt said the leaders were willing to let the people starve in 1932," he asserted. "Mr. Roosevelt denounces falsification. So do I."

Issues All Old

Hoover declared that the President's address "seemed to indicate that I was his opponent and this still was the 1932 campaign."

"Well," he added, "he is mistaken. I should think it would be ill-advised to raise the memories of promises that won the campaign."

The President, Hoover continued, tried to compare two different economic periods, taking the low point of one and the high point of the other.

He said that 18,000,000 persons were on relief when Mr. Roosevelt took office, but the relief "in my administration was under non-political, non-corrupt local committees."

"Mr. Roosevelt destroyed that," Hoover asserted, "and placed relief under a central bureaucracy. And there still are 18,000,000 persons under federal relief."

Sees Danger Point

While not suggesting that "Mr. Roosevelt aspires to be a dictator," Hoover said the President has built personal power to a "dangerous point."

Every dictator in Europe has risen and legislative bodies yielded powers in the name of emergency, Hoover asserted, and added:

"Nobody will deny that the majority of the congress has been reduced to a rubber stamp for the executive."

Summing up, Hoover said "the Republicans were concerned not only with the prospect of a third term, but "with a vital check upon the rise of personal power in the republic."

Marion Gridder at O.S U. To Start Against Cornell

Jack Stephenson still the object of praise for his performance with the Ohio State team in last week's Minnesota game, embarked today with the Buckeyes for Ithaca N Y where tomorrow Coach Francis Schmidt's team will tackle the unbeaten Cornell team

Stephenson, according to Columbus sports writers and radio newscasters, turned in the best job of tackle play this season against the Gophers and is slated to fill a starting post against Cornell

It was pointed out that he has not permitted the redislocation of his little finger, which he injured in the Purdue game to interfere with his usual performance

FIRE CAUSES $135 DAMAGE AT HOME

Flames Break Out in Attic of Union St. Residence.

Damage estimated by firemen at $135 resulted when a fire broke out in attics of a double house on Union street about 3 p m yesterday The building is occupied by the families of Mrs Beulah Titus and Mrs Kelvia Ronsot

Firemen said the blaze apparently was started by defective wiring or a discarded, lighted match The flames were confined to the attics and were extinguished by firemen from the Central and West Side stations

Firemen from the Central station were called to extinguish a fire in a pile of leaves at Windsor and Columbia streets about 10 p m yesterday

Marion Artist's Work on Display in New York City

The work of a young Marion artist is winning recognition in New York City according to an article in the October issue of 'Art Digest" a magazine of news and opinions of the art world

The artist is Robert E Smith son of the late Mr and Mrs S E Smith of South High street a graduate of Harding High school and now in New York City

Following is the magazine account regarding Mr Smith

'Paintings by one of Ohio's coming talents Robert E Smith comprise a one-man show until Oct 28 at the Guy Mayer Gallery in New York

"It is the first eastern showing of work by this 28-year-old painter His murals are well known in his native state

"Smith trained in the art department of Ohio State university at Columbus and after graduation he returned there to teach His one-man show at the Ohio State Faculty club two years ago won much acclaim and brought the young artist several portrait and mural commissions

'Several of his paintings have been acquired by the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts At his best in portraiture and landscapes, Smith's outstanding work in the present show is his dramatic 'View of Newark' the tawny 'Portrait of Peggy' the colorful 'Two Friends' and the 'Study of Mazie'

IRON LUNG ON JOB

Moved to City Hospital After Being on Display,

Marion's large iron lung was moved to City hospital yesterday morning from the courthouse basement where it was on display Monday through Wednesday Hundreds of Marion city and county residents inspected the device which was in a roped off section near the county health office

It is ready for instant use and will be stored in a basement room easily accessible for any emergency case in which it may be required

The infant size lung, on order is expected here within the next 10 days

"It's better than the ones your mother makes!"

said my husband when he tasted my first Spry cake,

declares Mrs DEAN GANONG of Avon, N J, married 2 years

"THOSE were his exact words," reports Mrs. Ganong proudly. "So we told Mother . . . and now Spry's on her shopping list! Spry-fried chicken is a grand success, too. Filet of sole, we find, has a more delicately individual flavor when fried in Spry"

Letters like this come pouring in, telling of extra-delicious results, compliments galore, when you cook the Spry way. Don't miss out Get purer Spry today for all baking, frying.

HEAR 'EM RAVE ABOUT THIS DUTCH APPLE CAKE

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Spry
1 egg well beaten
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons Spry
1 tablespoon butter
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon milk
2 cups apples sliced

Sift flour with baking powder sugar and salt. Cut in ¼ cup Spry until mixture is as fine as meal. Combine beaten egg and milk and add to flour mixture mixing to a soft dough Melt 3 tablespoons Spry and butter together add brown sugar cinnamon and milk and mix well Pour into 8x8 inch pan greased with Spry Press apple slices into mixture in circle Spread dough over apples

Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 to 60 minutes Serve hot or cold with cream Serves 8 to 10—and how they'll rise to it with cream Another tempting dessert may be made by using canned sliced peaches instead of apples But though you vary the fruit always use purer Spry in this and every cake you make Gives wonderful pastry and fried foods too All measurements in this recipe are level Clip and save this Spry recipe

CHAPTER 26

Bullets Again

LYNN marvelled at the fortitude of these peasant people. All the patients walked away from the dressing station unaided except the poor woman who died lying in one corner of the room, while Lynn bathed her face in cool water. One patient, carrying the green flag of a messenger, had a special message for Temu.

"Where to tell me what" it is?" Lynn asked.

He hesitated and then shook his head. "It's not good news for me," he said whimsically, "or I'd tell you."

Lynn regarded him with bright eyes, half sympathetic and yet half hopeful that his bad news was her good news. "Is my government searching for me at last?" she asked.

"I understand your story made quite a sensation in Nanking when our tourist friends related it," he admitted, "but I shan't tell you another word." They smiled at each other. And put her hand to her heart.

"Something tells me here," she said, "that I shall go to Delun only of my own free will." The laughter had died out of his eyes.

"Perhaps you are right," he said heavily and turned to his work. Lynn thought she had never before seen him so depressed.

At eleven o'clock he sent her back to the grand lama's house to rest, and called the fat priest from his prayers before the temple.

"You can pray and help me too," he said.

Lynn went reluctantly; there was so much to be done. But her sensibilities were not hardened to the dreadful cases presented to them. She found Peggy walking disconsolately up and down the courtyard. A servant monk brought them each a bowl of stew from the abbott's kitchen along with a squat, brown pot of tea. Lynn slept an hour or so and then Peggy begged her to go for a walk on the ridge above the monastery.

"We'll take field-glasses and perhaps we can see planes coming to our rescue," she offered hopefully. "You'd think Sam would be doing something by now. I have a feeling that he was surprised that I didn't charter a plane and follow him—as I would have done had it been possible."

Lynn laughed as she combed her hair, which had grown long, and twisted it into a shining knot at the back of her neck. "Yes," she said, "unless Temu Darin had failed to come to the rescue."

Peggy smiled. "Well, he did come to the rescue! And it'll be a good lesson to Sam."

"Do you find Temu Darin as attractive as you thought you would?" Lynn asked curiously.

Peggy pondered a moment. "In some ways more attractive. There's a mystery about him; he reminds me of a man with a secret love or a priest whose bride is the church."

"You've come pretty close to it," thought Lynn, and was tempted to add, "His bride is his sense of duty to his people."

Peggy helped Lynn with her coat while she spoke with seeming carelessness. "There is nothing between you and him, is there?"

Lynn parried. "Why do you ask?"

"It's hard to explain." Peggy regarded her intently. "It's not in what you say or do, but, sometimes when you're standing together I get the oddest impression—as if you two belonged to a secret world of your own, different from mine; as if you'd been through things together of which I know nothing. Where were you both last night?"

"Sitting on the roof looking at the stars and quoting poetry." Lynn answered, taking the field-glasses from a shelf and handing them to Peggy.

"Did he hold your hand?"

Lynn laughed shortly. "Not he."

"That's a clever way for a man to behave with a girl like you," scoffed Peggy. "Do you think you could fall in love with him?"

Fear of Love

"Falling in love is losing one's identity. I'm afraid of it. Sam can't come to our rescue too soon to please me."

Peggy stared. "I believe you are afraid."

Lynn colored. "I believe I'd be fool if I really fell in love, Peggy. I'd take it hard, as some people take religion; as Temu takes his loyalty to his Prince, fanatically. Let's go."

They stepped into the courtyard. Tsong, the little shaven-headed Buddha with the bandaged wrist, was playing there in his gay, red silk robe and skull cap. He rose and joined the girls, showing them how to open the seldom used north gate that led up the cliffs behind the monastery.

He took them to an eminence from which they could view the country in all directions. To the west, across the hills, rose the besieged Mohammedan fortress of Kiah-yu, appearing as romantic in the distance as a feudal castle on the Rhine.

Out across the plateau to the east and south, they could see the fires of smoldering villages and bands of refugees on the trails.

Far to the south, dust rose as if from the march of advancing troops, but in the sky above there was no sign of birdmen winging their way to the rescue of a pair of American girls.

Though the sun shone brightly the air was chill with a breeze from the Tibetan highlands. At intervals came the sound of hammers ringing on iron in the black smith shop within the walls where plowshares were being turned into swords.

Lynn lay down on the short, sweet grass while the other two roamed about looking for spring flowers. Larks sang and soared above; a herd of ponies thundered across a draw nearby. A pale, golden fly alighted on the toe of Lynn's oxford and proceeded to groom his wings. She watched him idly for a while and then suddenly sat up.

She had heard a faint scream suppressed as if by sudden violence. Peggy and the little Buddha were no longer in sight. Lynn rose and called. There was no response. She called once more and this time received an answer.

A bullet tossed up the dust at her feet.

Captured Again

A tall, thin, red-bearded Chinese rounded the hill. Lynn ran. Instead of firing, he dashed forward and intercepted her. She was helpless in his grasp. Tying a dirty sash around her mouth, he shoved her ahead of him. They rounded the far side of the hill where three other men held Peggy and the little Tsong.

Lynn saw at a glance that these men were different from the pure Chinese. There was evidence of Turkish blood in their thin faces, aquiline noses, and the red-dyed beards of the two elder men. Evidently, they were members of a scouting party from the fort attempting to capture horses from the herd she had seen running past. And instead, they had captured two American girls and a plump, little, "living Buddha."

The men debated for some time; then they began asking questions of the boy who answered readily. Lynn presently discovered that the leader could talk a bit of "pidgin" English, he admired Peggy's red hair and, lifting a dirty hand, gave it a tentative stroke. She shrank away from the touch, almost fainting.

Lynn attempting to comfort her though she had no idea what might be in store for them. This was war, more grave even than brigandage. They might be held merely as hostages. They might be run through and left where they fell. There was the possibility of enslavement. In this vast seething cauldron that was inner Asia, two American girls could disappear as easily as two drops of champagne in the coarse sands of the Gobi.

The men hurried their prisoners along the ridge, and one snatched the red, silk cap from the boy's head and dropped back a moment. As they followed a winding path through the hills, the men stopped occasionally to fill huge sacks with grass pulled up by the roots. Avoiding the soldiers picketing the fort, they entered through an obscure gate in the east wall just after dark.

The prisoners were taken to the village magistrates, and fastened to the wall on the street side. Lynn quickly surmised this to be the custom with local prisoners before they were freed, punished or beheaded.

"We'll sit here in the dust and lean against the wall and be as comfortable and brave as we can," she said, suiting the action to the words. She drew the little boy down beside her and put a comforting arm around him.

"I'm told that events in themselves are neutral, and that our reaction makes them either good or bad," she went on. "If we can be wise and calm enough this experience should not hurt us."

Peggy looked up and blanched at the sight of a wooden cage in which festered a bandit's head. She began to weep. "I know we're going to die!"

"Hush!" whispered Lynn. "Oh, Peggy, please keep up your chin!" Curious, angry people had begun to collect about them. Men, women, and children, dull and anguished of eye, incredibly wrinkled and emaciated from starvation, stared, jabbered, and then attempted to claw at the captives, while their voices rose high and shrill and then sank low and menacing.

Lynn gathered that her captors had gone out to steal horses to feed their starving comrades and that the disappointment was great when they returned with human captives, though they hoped to make an exchange with the rich lamassery for many sheep and horses. And if they failed to bargain, the guard explained to his prisoners, he would kill them promptly. A starving people could not afford to keep slaves.

The grass the men had brought back from the hills was being distributed to the crowd who snatched it and ate ravenously, root and all.

PLENTY OF TURKEYS FOR THANKSGIVING IN U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — Americans can begin whetting their appetites now for extra large servings of roast turkey for their Thanksgiving dinners.

There will be a bountiful supply of turkey meat. The largest crop in the nation's history is being fattened and prepared for market. Farm officials estimate that at least 15,000,000 birds of this year's 33,138,000 crop will be sold within the next five or six weeks.

These birds, added to supplies already in cold storage, would provide sufficient meat, officials said, to give each American man, woman and child about two pounds for holiday consumption.

Largely because of the huge supply, prices are expected to be slightly less than a year ago.

The Disrepute of Politicians

IT was in the cards that stock in the Professional Politicians' club would sag after an outsider captured the Republican presidential nomination. When on top of that Mr. Willkie chose to hammer on the theme of the New Deal's boon companionship with the corrupt political machines of Bosses Kelly, Hague and Pendergast, damage to the professionals' never-too-high prestige was inevitable. Many of them are rising to the occasion and breaking party lines which restrict honest expression.

Some of the political figures who might have saved the day are contributing to the rout. For instance, Mayor LaGuardia, who has shown promise on occasion of being more than a hack breast-beater, is revealing himself on the stump as just another blind partisan capable of shading the truth to make a rousing speech.

James A. Farley perhaps has struck the cruelest blow at confidence in the political profession. Despite his countrymen's knowledge that he is opposed to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, the former national chairman of the Democratic party makes it known he will put party above personal conviction and vote a straight ticket. There resides at all times in the hearts and minds of the people a gnawing doubt about the integrity of men who become so loyal to political parties they must deny their own principles. In an election which so clearly challenges men to stand by their own principles, that doubt resolves itself into determination that politicians must never be allowed to sell out the United States for partisan advantage the way they sold out the republic of France.

The British Lion

THOSE hostile ears which Prime Minister Churchill said were cocked to his radio broadcast to the French people probably tingled Monday night. They were listening to bad news.

They were listening to a byproduct of the axis drive to crush Great Britain—a leader whom circumstances are turning into a strong man. Mr. Churchill may become strong enough to send Adolf Hitler limping into the pages of the history books to join Kaiser Wilhelm. That would be irony, because without Hitlerism and its impact on an overly complacent Britain Mr. Churchill might never have been called to his country's helm to steer it through a mortal storm.

It is important that Mr. Churchill's voice crackled and snapped; that he spoke grimly of the beginning of a counter-offensive; that he departed completely from the honeyed style which has been common among spokesmen for the intended victims of the super-state. In fact, Mr. Churchill sounded a good deal as he looks, like a personification of the British lion. It is a strange circumstance of a strange war that the lion is gaining vigor, contrary to the expectations of almost everybody, chiefly the Nazis. Having tackled it, they must slay it or be slain—and they can't slay it.

Tete a Tete With Dorothy Thompson

APROPOS of Columnist Dorothy Thompson's belief that the axis powers would like to see President Roosevelt defeated, two thoughts are occurring to many of her countrymen.

First, Miss Thompson admits that Mr. Roosevelt isn't necessarily the man who can create the strongest defense, but says he's our best known spokesman. In other words, she is advising her countrymen to vote for the man whose name the British know best as a symbol of democracy and ignoring the man whose practical experience might enable America to do the best job of rushing aid to Britain's defense.

Second, Miss Thompson ignores the possibility that German propagandists are as smart as she is. They may be playing the second bounce. They may figure that the best way to keep the United States from being more effectual than it has been in sending aid to Britain is to keep Mr. Roosevelt in office, which can be done best by letting it leak out that the Nazis hope he will be defeated. That would be merely a common sense application of psychology.

Br'er Rabbit

MORE than ordinary importance radiates from Paul Mallon's report of New Deal plans for suddenly producing a white rabbit to sidetrack the Willkie campaign.

In partisan politics, strategists usually do whatever they can do to win advantage. It is within the power of the Roosevelt administration to do a number of things to keep the people from paying too much attention to Mr. Willkie. For instance, it could break off diplomatic relations with Germany, thereby producing a wave of war hysteria which would blanket discussion of domestic issues. Incidentally, this possibility is mentioned by Columnist Mallon. The move might be made within a week.

Its success would depend, of course, on the gullibility of the people. If they looked at nothing but the white rabbit, ignoring the magician's hands and the paraphernalia of the stunt, the desired purpose might be accomplished. Forewarned is forearmed. Don't boo till you see the pink of Br'er Rabbit's eyes.

News Behind the News

Stamp Project an Expanded Version of Old Campaign Method.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—The old city machines used to maintain themselves with the great bulk-voting poor by passing out free turkeys on Thanksgiving day and coal on Christmas, but this 1940 presidential campaign marks the first time a facsimile of the old strategy has been tried on a national scale.

Quietly but steadily, Wallace's Agriculture Department has instituted 89 food stamp projects since the outset of the campaign, July 1 up to Oct. 22. More are coming every day. The stamp plan is simply a complicated way of legally passing out free food. The surplus commodities division hands out books of stamps to needy individuals and these may be used as cash for certain foods usually at designated stores in selected localities.

The entire country from coast to coast has been thoroughly spotted with these food distribution projects, that is, all of the country except the south. Less than 10 of the 89 projects have been started in that reasonably safe area, and most of these were in Texas where some doubts cropped up early in the campaign.

Where "Useful"

Last score of new projects have gone to territories in which the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket can use help—Kansas, Oregon, Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Washington and South Dakota.

As the projects are the result of direct appropriations made by Congress, officials in charge insist the localities have been chosen legally on the basis of their need of food rather than their own need of votes. Some say this with a smile, others grimly. But no one here, grim or smiling, can explain how three weeks before election, ham, the favorite dish of Harlem next to chicken, has happened to become a surplus commodity for that area.

Next big question that is going to arise if Mr. Roosevelt wins is whether any president of the United States hereafter can ever be defeated as long as he lives and while he enjoys the funds, power and ham that have been given the executive branch of government in the last few years for currying the favor of voters.

Edict

Mr. Roosevelt laid down the edict at the outset of the defense program in July that the work week could not be expanded in army arsenals and navy yards until the unemployment rolls were absorbed. It begins to look as if that day will never come. There appears to be utterly no relationship between the work needs of the army and navy yards and the lists of the unemployed. WPA lists of the unemployed have been strangely increasing lately as rapidly as the need for men has expanded in defense enterprise. WPA rolls showed an increase of 15,757 the week of Oct. 9 as compared with the previous week. WPA then was caring for 1,782,245 persons.

Workers Sought

At the same time Mr. Roosevelt's Civil Service Commission was actually tearing its hoary locks trying to find skilled workers for the arsenals and navy yards. Among the steps the commission has taken are these:

Notices were posted in postoffices; daily radio appeals have been made; free advertising space has been granted by newspapers; the need has been announced in movies; more than 50 special agents have been sent to industrial centers to search for skilled men; appeals have been made to unions, state, city and federal unemployment bureaus, and even chiefs of police in many centers have been consulted. All to no avail.

Those in charge have come to the conclusion that new labor restrictions which impeded the hiring of apprentices in the last few years have prevented the normal accumulation of new skilled workers. They cannot be found because they do not exist.

On The Record

Why Doesn't Dies Group Tell All It Knows of German Activities Here?

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

FOR some reason, unknown to this column, the Dies committee has not made public information in its possession that is more sensational than anything since the Zimmermann note; information which implicates the German Embassy and the German consular service, the Transocean New Service, headed by Manfred Zapp; the German Railroads Information Office, and, no doubt, many other agencies in the most flagrant intervention in American internal affairs. This information, for instance, reveals that the fourth German White Book was timed on the advice of Zapp, to influence the Illinois primaries against President Roosevelt. It further reveals, from letters on the stationery of the German Embassy, that Adrian Arcand, the Canadian Fascist leader, and his French-language newspaper have been financed by Germany, with Manfred Zapp, in New York, as the pay-off, and that the North German Lloyd office in Montreal was a propaganda and espionage center, with the ticket clerk as the propaganda center and the party-cell member.

The Dies committee also knows that intelligence agents of the Rome-Berlin Axis have met in New York at the home of the director of the German Railroads Information Office and that the letters to German consuls from at least one editor of a German-language newpaper close with "Heil Hitler!" express devotion to the cause and ask for free news service from Zapp.

One interpretation placed upon the withholding of the information is that the department of state does not desire the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany, which would be almost inevitable if the information came out officially.

The Auhagen Case

Dr. Fredrich Ernst Auhagen, who was picked up by Federal agents on the west coast as he was about to embark for Japan and held on the charge possessing obscene pictures, was allowed to return east on the promise to testify before the Dies commitee, which now is uncertain whether or not to put him on the stand at all.

Dr. Auhagen's activities will probably prove to have been linked only tenuously to the German government. He and his organization, "the American Fellowship Forum," have conducted the most subtle and intelligent campaign to influence and direct American public opinion and American policy.

The American Fellowship Forum poses as a purely American organization. The brochures which promote its program say no word about Germany. The Fellowship Forum appeals to "constructive-minded people to get together for united action....to form a powerful movement, the kind of active and determined group that can get things done under our American system." "National unity, confidence, an intelligent attitude toward foreign affairs, and patriotism" are its ostensible aims. It wants to concentrate the attention of the American people "on the solution of their domestic problems, make them recovery-minded, create a mental and emotional prerequisite to recovery... and prosperity ... combat every trend injurious to spiritual and material rejuvenation."

Branches Organized

To this end it has organized branches in a number of cities. In April, 1940, according to its own literature, it was represented by branches in New York, Newark, Philadelphia, Springfield, Mass.; Cleveland, Chicago, and La Salle, Ill.

It arranged meetings with speakers. These meetings were often debates on domestic and European subjects.

Dr. Auhagen's leading brain-trusters were Philip Johnson and Lawrence Dennis, both Harvard men and both brilliant. Mr. Johnson was once associated with Huey Long., Lawrence Dennis, who publishes "The Weekly Foreign Letter," a mimeographed sheet that goes out to business men and politicians and analyzes foreign political trends veiledly from the Axis viewpoint, is a former member of the American foreign service who believes that the capitalist system is on its last legs and that it must and will be succeeded in the United States by a Fascist regime—arguments advanced in two published books.

The American Fellowship Forum has published irregularly a small magazine called "Today's Challenge." So far as I know, only three issues appeared. All contained articles by Dr. Auhagen, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Dennis. William R. Castle, former Under Secretary of State in the Hoover administration, contributed to two issues; Representative Hamilton Fish and the late Senators Lundeen and Borah were also contributors, the latter furnishing merely an article against war.

Same As Lindbergh

If one analyzes the policy advocated by the Fellowship Forum for America as revealed in its publications, one finds that in foreign affairs it is precisely the policy advocated by Col. Lindbergh and by the Save-America-First movement, which is playing so active a role in the present campaign against the President, and which in domestic affairs, stands for a kind of Vichy Fascism.

Mr. George Sylvester Viereck, who was associated with the Fellowship Forum and with "Today's Challenge," was eventually dropped because of his embarrassing record as a German propagandist in the last war and be-

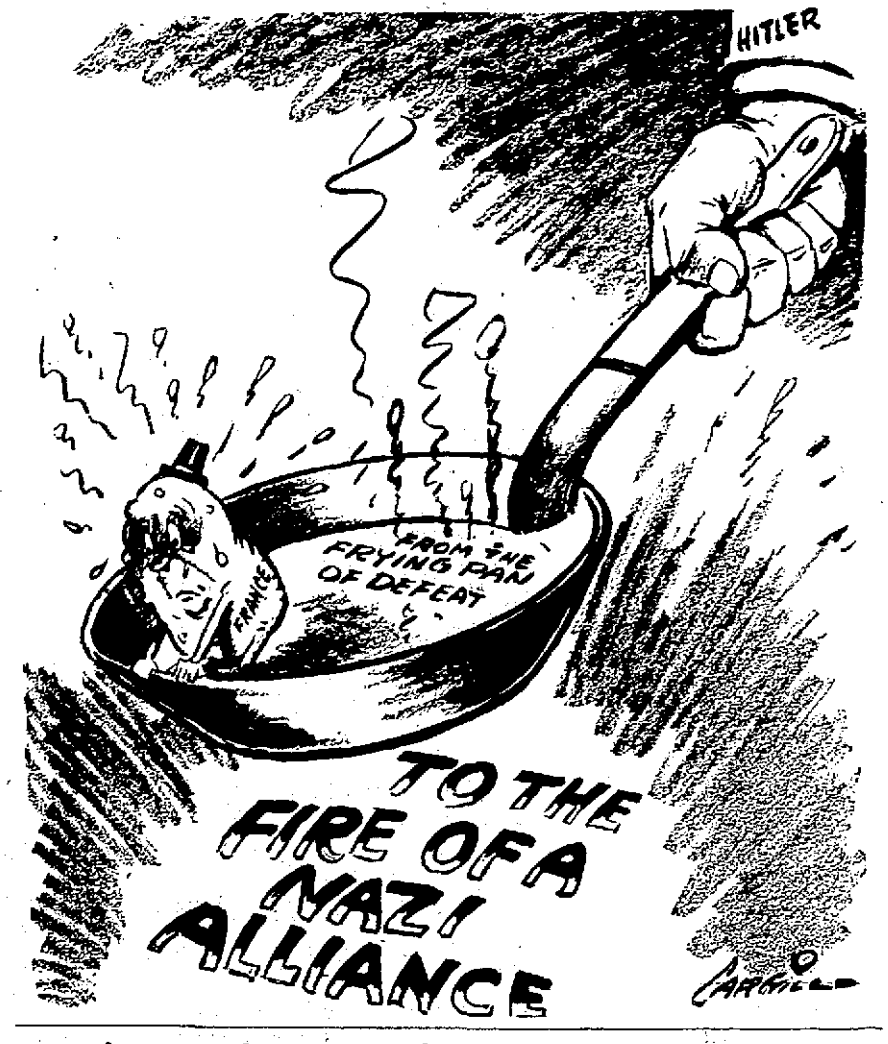
"FRENCH FRIED"



Back on the Road To Common Sense

By John Kieran

I WANT Wendell L. Willkie for president because:

I do not believe that any nation can live indefinitely on a diet of pie in the sky.

I do not believe that an increase of $25,000,000,000 in the national debt over a period of seven years can be explained away as social welfare on a large scale, even in a soothing voice.

I do not believe that the way to pull out of a depression is to pile on the debt.

I do not believe that the lot of the poor and the hungry can be permanently improved by paying farmers not to raise hogs, cattle, wheat and potatoes.

I am not in favor of putting active or former members of the Ku Klux Klan on the bench of the supreme court of the United States. I am against National Socialism and if WPA, PWA, Refunding Finance Corp., Federal Housing and all the rest of the program isn't National Socialism, what is it?

John Kieran, the "walking encyclopedia" of the radio program "Information Please," and conductor of "Sports of The Times," in the sports section of the New York Times, has written this article explaining his support for the Republican presidential candidate as a member of American Writers for Wendell L. Willkie.

I BELIEVE that a determined and continued attack by the administration on capitalists as a class in a country that, by free choice, prefers to operate under the capitalistic system is an attack on the country itself and the ultimate welfare of all the inhabitants thereof.

I am opposed to a third term, a fourth term, a fifth term, and so on to the nth degree.

I believe that the doctrine of the indispensability of one man may be sound under a dictatorship, but is untenable in a democracy. If it meant anything in this country, what would happen if the Great Indispensable died? Would we fold up and go out of business?

I believe that if we can't produce 200 men capable of running the country at any day and hour, we might as well go out of business.

I THINK that Wendell Willkie or two hundred other sensible citizens could put a stop to a lot of foolishness in Washington and get us all back to honest work in the field or factory and common sense in government. But Wendell Willkie is the one who has been nominated to carry the ball in this campaign; I'm for him.

I believe that the Constitution of the United States, the code of fair play, the principles of common sense and the rules of simple arithmetic have been trampled all over by the New Dealers and we had better get back to earth before we get kicked off it.

I know Wendell Willkie. I admired him before I ever saw him. The more I know him, the better I like him. He's a worker. He's a real democrat. I believe Wendell Willkie and his cause represent the best interests of all the citizens of this country.

That's why I am for Wendell L. Willkie.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Saturday, Oct. 25, 1930.

The first all-air passenger and mail line to connect New York and the west coast was inaugurated when 11 large planes took the air at approximately the same time in various sections of the country. The cross-country trip was to be made in 36 hours elapsed time.

Frederick Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Smith of East Center street, was on a week-end visit here from Northwestern Medical college of Chicago. Several of his friends, all junior students at the college, accompanied him on the visit.

The Allegro Music club, made up of younger pupils of Miss Grace Durfee, were entertained at a meeting and Halloween party held at Miss Durfee's studio on South Main street.

Miss Evelyn McClelland entertained a group of friends with a Halloween party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McClelland on Olney avenue.

John E. Gracely was host to a group of friends at a Halloween masquerade party at his home on East Church street.

Terence MacSwiney, Sinn Fein lord mayor of Cork, gave up his life for Irish freedom when he died in Brixton jail, London, after being on a hunger strike since Aug. 12. He was hailed as a martyr to his political principles.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore of Wood street.

Mrs. Z. E. Gunder was hostess to the Searchlight club at her home on East Center street.

The Current Topic club met with Mrs. C. A. Thiel on East Church street.

Judge John M. Garman of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., prominent lawyer and former chairman of the Pennsylvania Democratic state central committee, in a letter sent to Senator Harding announced that he would support Mr. Harding for the presidency in the November election. He said the welfare of the country demanded Mr. Harding's election and the welfare of the Democratic party "demands that the pirates now controlling the good ship Democracy should be thrown overboard." Among the day's callers at Harding headquarters were Judge Pierre A. White of Cleveland, who predicted Mr. Harding would carry Cuyahoga county by a majority of 20,000 or more, and Constantine C. Moustakis of Salem, Mass., who predicted that every New England state would be carried by the Harding ticket.

Record Business

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore. — Those old killer-diller phonograph records are ending up in strange places and strange shapes in Portland.

The music they carried was seldom hot enough to melt them down. That's where Violet and Gwendolyn Hooker, two Negro girls, come in.

The girls — "just say we're of legal age" — found themselves without jobs two years ago after a wholesale florist shop closed. Then came the big idea. They would open a flower shop of their own.

Specializing in cactus, the Flower Mecca soon bloomed, but pots for desert plants are expensive and they had little money.

Phonograph records and Violet's school-day art talent came to the rescue. They haunt second-hand shops for old records, dip them into boiling water and mold them into odd shapes. Three coats of paint and a decorative motif leave the ex-blues platters with a porcelain effect. Fish, tree, fruit and geometric designs are the most popular.

Nobody Cares

Our Old Man Tried To Amends for Dirty Politics Got Poked for His Pains.

By DAMON RUNY

OUR old man said the only thing regretted in his experience in r public office back in our old hom Pueblo was the use in his speech campaign lie. He said he cast against his opponents that he knew justified and deliberately distorted figures to his own advantage.

He was the candidate on the Pop and had two opponents, one repres Democrats and the other the Republ Republican was the holder of the which our old man and the Democrat were running, and our old man said his statements about the officeholder were particularly misleading and even downright false.

He said he gave his hearers to understand the officeholder was completely inefficient, which he knew was not true because the man was unusually able. He said he even hinted the officeholder might be corrupt, though he was aware there was no more honest citizen in the community. He said he took the reports of the officeholde into them things that were not there rantly misinterpreted the things that

Old old man said he told voter administer the office much better economically than the officeholder he guessed this was about the g truth he uttered because he well could not administer his own bedr in great confusion and at a loss, a it was not possible to put more econ office than the incumbent already

OUR old man said he would sit making his mis-statements and alyze his motives for making the ordinarily he was not a man to fellow citizens by innuendo or othe said he decided it must be a desire his selfish vanity in victory and tha feel pretty much ashamed of hi the next day. Then he would forge and go forth and again become an character.

Our old man said that of cou meantime his opponents were mak ous statements about him, too, som were erroneous to say the least slightly libelous. He said the Rep ficeholder termed him an unhung while the Democrat called him the all the worst phases of humanity a election would mark the beginni downfall of civilization.

Our old man said he thought drawing it pretty strong. He said speeches he did not pay a great tention to the Democratic candi than to call attention to the ma inal characteristics of his counte that even this was a campaign e because the Democrat was really kindly man, who was not to bla face.

OUR old man said his conscience to trouble him after the electio he and the Democrat were ignom feated. He said he felt the least was to look up his opponents and apologize to them. He said he matter over with several political own party and they advised stron apologies. He said in fact the seemed to horrify them.

He said one of them pointed would be against all political tra ing that everybody in the Unitec voting age knew that anything sai political campaign, though it migl or libelous, was immediately for that no amends were ever consid sary. He said that even in presid paigns, statements of fiction, villi just plain error, were never afterw gized for or rectified. He said o would probably run into trouble establish a dangerous precedent.

But our old man said his consci not let him rest so finally he hur Republican officeholder and told spoken falsely of him during the ca that he was very sorry. The Rep he had heard rumors of the stat that he had refused to believe t man would tell such terrific lies but as long as our old man himse he was a liar he would just bust the nose for luck.

Our old man said he never loo Democrat because he knew he coul than the Republican.

BURTON, BROWN ON UNION CO. PROGRAM

ssail Third-Term Candidacy in Marysville Speeches.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, O., Oct. 25—From a political standpoint alone [illegible] serve as president of the United States for 12 years, Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, told approximately 800 persons in a Republican rally last night in the Marysville High school auditorium. Mr. Burton and Congressman Clarence Brown, from the Seventh district, which includes Union county, were the principal speakers.

Discussing the supreme court situation, Mayor Burton said that five of the nine men now sitting are appointees of the present administration. If the administration continues another four years the court personnel will be virtually entirely pro-administration appointees, since the average age of the men of the court is 65 years, he predicted.

Touching on recovery, the candidate pointed to three times in the history of the United States when Republican presidents have been called "to put the country back on its feet": 1860, when Lincoln was elected; 1876 when Rutherford B. Hayes was elected and 1896 when William McKinley was chosen.

Congressman Brown attacked the administration for waiting seven years before starting a national defense program and said that he voted against the conscription bill because he did not feel that preparations to handle the men could be prepared before 1942. In the World war, he said, men were conscripted and the U. S. army faced a housing problem.

Charles Waggoner, of Lebanon, state committeeman from the Seventh district, presided as chairman. Among the guests were Judge George Middleton of Bellefontanie, candidate for the court of appeals, and Union county candidates.

Preceding the rally there was an old-fashioned torchlight parade in the uptown district. The Marysville High school band and the Chuckery High school band from the Unionville Center High school furnished music.

HALLOWEEN PARTY HELD BY MEMBERS OF DE MOLAY

Box Supper, Costume Contest Followed by Dancing.

Members of Marion Chapter, Order of DeMolay, entertained with a Halloween masquerade party Thursday night at the Masonic temple. A box supper was followed by dancing. Awards for the most original costumes were won by Miss Barbara Warner, Miss Helen Schaffner and Miss Dorothy Taylor, and Richard Acker received a prize for the funniest costume. Arrangements were in charge of a committee including Harold Fralich, Dick Acker, Gene Roberts and the chapter advisor, Robert Solinger. Plans were discussed for a New Year's Eve party.

Officers were chosen at a meeting of the Past Masters association of DeMolay Tuesday night at Hotel Harding. They are Raymond Mayfield, president, and James Gast, vice president. Robert Solinger is secretary and treasurer.

Plans were made to hold weekly dances following the basketball games. J. W. Richards and Welcome Cass were appointed DeMolay advisors and plans were made for the next meeting in March. Guests were Harold Fralich, senior counselor of DeMolay, and Dick Acker, junior counselor.

Marion Couple Married Sixty Years To Be Honored at Dinner Sunday

MR. AND MRS. G. W. HINAMON

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hinamon and their families will join them for a family dinner Sunday at their home at 244 East Church street in celebration of their sixtieth wedding anniversary. In the afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock and Sunday evening from 7 to 12 o'clock the celebrants will receive their friends informally.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hinamon are natives of Marion county, and prior to coming to Marion to make their home in 1920 lived on a farm on the Marion-Bucyrus road. As Callie E. Clark the bride of 60 years ago became Mrs. Hinamon on Oct. 27, 1880 in a ceremony read in the home of her parents on the Likens Chapel road by Rev. Gard a Methodist minister. She was born Aug. 31, 1860, to Robert T. Clark, a native of near Dublin, O., and Harriet Clark Clark whose birthplace was Circleville. Mr. Hinamon, who celebrated his eighty-first birthday Dec. 19, last year is the son of Frederick Hinamon, a native of Alsace, Germany and Abigail Mouser Hinamon, a native of Marion county. They are members of Epworth Methodist church. Mrs. Hinamon is a member of the Powell Sunday school class and Mr. Hinamon of the Smart class. Mrs. Hinamon was a teacher in the county schools before her marriage.

Mr. Hinamon was for many years engaged in farming in Grand Prairie township. He was a member of the Marion County fair board for 12 years, serving one year as president. Prior to retiring two years ago he served on the board of trustees of the Marion County Children's home for a number of years.

Their children are Robert F. Hinamon of the Likens Chapel road and D. W. Hinamon of the Marion-Bucyrus road. A daughter, Mabel Gertrude, died in infancy. They have four grandchildren, Mrs. Donald Tower of 209 Merchant avenue, Mrs. O. C. Young of the Likens Chapel road, Quentin Hinamon and Deane Hinamon Jr., both of the Marion-Bucyrus road, and two great-grandchildren, Gene Young and Nancy Lou Tower.

THOMPSON

cause, by accepting a position here as correspondent of the "Munchener Neueste Nachrichten," he was open to the charge of being a "paid" agent. I understand that the Dies committee has evidence to show that Dr. Auhagen himself received direct subsidies from Germany; but Dr. Auhagen has always claimed that he was supported by Americans, and he has been indiscreet enough in private conversations to name some of them. He has also been supported by contributions from German-American business men.

Same Old Plan?

Long familiarity with the Nazi technique of the coup d'etat—the strategy of insinuation into the political life of countries which the Nazis wish to undermine and paralyze—makes Dr. Auhagen's role clearly recognizable. His prototypes played leading roles in France and England. Seldom directly, but by consciously directed indirection, their business is to reach not the "rabble," who are approached by the Winrods, Sanctuarys, Edmondsons, Pelleys, McWilliamses and Coughlins, but to penetrate high places—centers of political influence and economic power—reach the so-called realists and convert them to the idea that democracy needs considerable streamlining, discipline and authority, and that the economic interests of the United States, its welfare and its peace can best be served by collaboration with the Germans, who are going to win the world war anyhow and who represent, in a general pattern, the future form of civilization. This as the role in France of Dr. Abetz, who was so successful in cafe life and among bankers and whose cause was so charmingly advanced by beautiful women.

It is the Auhagens who advance the Machiavellian thesis that only an American Fascism, of the upper-class-dominated Vichy variety, is capable of winning a war against Germany.

If Worked Elsewhere

It was the Auhagens and their collaborators who persuaded important people in Britain and France to furnish vital supplies to the German government up to the very moment when they were attacked. It was the Auhagens who, with infinite tact and indirection, managed to have British industrialists sitting in Stuttgart with German industrialists, planning a trade pact at the very moment when the Germans were marching into Prague.

And the cosmic joke in the whole business is that many of the people whom they reach and influence have not the remotest idea of the purposes for which they are being used.

Despite the record of every country, no country learns for itself except through the most bitter experience.

DRILL TEAM ENTERTAINS EAGLES AUXILIARY GROUP

Members of the fancy drill team entertained the Auxiliary to Buckeye Aerie No. 337, F. O. Eagles, at a "kid" party and chicken dinner Thursday night preceding a regular meeting of the lodge. The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Bertha Anthony, Mrs. Mayme Drollinger, Mrs. Mildred Myers, Mrs. Hilda Youngblood, Mrs. Maude Whiteman and Mrs. Anna Sandbower. Halloween motifs and candles decorated the tables, which were arranged by Mrs. Wilma Chapman and Mrs. Hilda Youngblood.

Plans were made to sponsor a chicken dinner Nov. 4. Mrs. Anthony, assisted by Mrs. Lucretia Bonner in charge of tickets, and Mrs. Marie Eshman in charge of the dining room, will arrange for the benefit. Five dollars was contributed to the Red Cross. Two applications were received. A meeting of the degree staff and officers will be held Nov. 1 to rehearse for initiatory work on Nov. 28.

JOHN GARRITY GIVES TALK AT STUDENTS' SERVICE

John Garrity was the speaker at the Harding High school chapel service yesterday morning at Central Christian church. His subject was "Why Should We Be Ashamed?"

Several hundred young people attended the weekly service, which opened with singing led by Marian Schneider. Keith Bell read the scripture lesson and Barbara Gottschall offered prayer. Miss Kathryn Schneider was organist.

The weekly chapel programs are sponsored by the Girl Reserves and Hi-Y clubs of the high school.

METHODIST SOCIETY AT HOME OF MRS. NEWELL

Mrs. Eldred Evans, Mrs. L. H. Stevens, Mrs. Kenneth Connolly and Miss Margaret Haberman were guests when Mrs. B. F. Newell of 203 Hane avenue was hostess yesterday afternoon to Circle 10, Women's Society of Christian Service of Epworth Methodist church.

The circle arranged a guest day party Nov. 28 at the church, and a bazaar for Dec. 19. James Bain, a guest, gave a talk on the life and habits of the honey bee. Mrs. Connolly and Miss Haberman sang several vocal duets. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. M. A. Elsey, Mrs. Clyde Nicodemus, Mrs. C. R. Banfill and Mrs. H. C. King.

Fund Total Reaches $20,439

ser. Mrs. Virgil Dye and Mrs. Lisle Kauffman assisted.

The school division with what was described as "110 per cent attendance" actually led in this class, but the women's division was awarded the customary prize of flowers on the strength of their large number attending. They also won the privilege of riding on the city fire truck to the courthouse where they supervised adjusting the Community Fund thermometer.

Mr. Zoll spoke briefly, commenting that the fund office has received reports that some workers are soliciting prospects out of their own divisions. The workers last night agreed that in such cases the money should be turned into the proper division.

Compared With Year Ago

He also pointed to an encouraging fact: the $17,013 reported Wednesday night was $1,000 more than was turned in at the first two report meetings last year when the drive went over the top.

Highlights of the various reports:

Schools—Supt. E. E. Holt said his division would go over the top of $1,000 tonight. The division has only $3 to raise yet and boasts the best percentage record in the campaign, 99 plus per cent.

Public Employes—Only the city firemen reported last night, turning in 18 subscriptions for $91.

Women—Mrs. George Alber's division set a fast pace with 92 subscriptions for $508. The division of Mrs. Frederick Myers had reported a large amount the previous night.

Downtown - Professional—The report of J. P. Sharkey (garages, service stations, accessories, oil companies, etc.) topped this group, with 90 subscriptions for $249. M. C. Sterrett of the chain store group predicted his workers would go over the top.

Industrial—The Marion Metal Products Co. report of $111 was 100 per cent ahead of last year's and the Fairfield Engineering Co.'s $542 is 50 per cent ahead.

Several workers were called upon by Mr. Oliphant for talks—Supt. Holt, Harold J. Grigsby, John E. Artopoeus, Homer Waddell, Mrs. E. O. Smith and C. Z. Zachman.

Additional members of the "110 Per Cent Club," made up of workers who raised 10 per cent more than last year, are:

Mrs. Virgil Dye, Mrs. George Planck, Mrs. Rex Kilbourne, Mrs. J. E. Scandling, Mrs. Howard Swink, Mrs. John Dowler and George Minard.

NEW HARD-WATER SUDS WASHES DISHES CRYSTAL BRIGHT!

"Takes the curse out of dishwashing", women say about this amazing new suds that makes 5 times more suds than any soap, cup for cup, in hardest water. With this new different suds, Vel, the harder the water the bigger the suds. Dishes gleam like crystal, glassware sparkles, silverware shines with highlights, because with all its oceans of suds, Vel makes no hard-water scum to streak the brilliance of tableware. Saves loads of work, because dishes washed in Vel don't have to be polished with a towel. Just a hot rinse, and they drain dry, bright and full of luster. Helps hands stay soft, too, because Vel suds contain no alkali to irritate your skin. Ideal for fine fabrics, because Vel leaves no hard-water scum to "gray" dainty colors. Silk, woolens, rayons sing with radiant sparkle when washed with Vel. Buy Vel today for big suds in hard water.

CAROL APPEALS TO U. S. FOR HELP IN SPAIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—Former King Carol of Rumania appealed to the United States government today to intercede in behalf of himself and members of his party now held under detention in Seville, Spain.

The king's request was transmitted to the state department by the American legation in Lisbon, Portugal, after Jean Pangal, former Rumanian minister to Portugal, had asked the legation to forward the appeal to President Roosevelt.

State department officials had no immediate comment to make on the request, or on what action, if any, this government might take.

Carol, his friend, Madam Magda Lupescu, and Ernst Urdareanu, former minister of the palace in Bucharest, were placed under virtual arrest Tuesday and are under guard at their hotel in Seville.

THREE FEARED DEAD IN MAINE HOTEL FIRE

Many Rescued by Firemen When Trapped in Building.

By The Associated Press

AUBURN, Me., Oct. 25—Three women were believed killed today in a pre-dawn fire that destroyed the Hotel Whitehall and trapped nearly half of the 74 registered persons in smoke-filled rooms.

Firemen assisted approximately 30 guests, including several children, down aerial ladders, from the fifth and sixth floors of the seven story structure.

Custer L. Frost, proprietor of the hostelry, estimated the damage at $75,000.

Reported as missing were:

Mrs. S. A. McHugh, 35, of Boston, Miss Grace Hayes, 70, of Auburn, and Mrs. Fannie B. Garey of Gorham.

Firemen said they saw Mrs. McHugh in a sixth floor window but that before their aerial ladder reached the room the woman had fallen back into the flames and could not be seen.

SHE'S NEVER CHANGED FLOUR since she started with Pillsbury's Best!

"MY HUSBAND SAYS MY PIE CRUST MELTS IN HIS MOUTH" ...says Mrs. Robert Neidhard of Cincinnati

"When we were first married my husband happened to bring Pillsbury's Best home from the store, and we found it made such rich, flaky pastry that we've never changed. My husband says my pie crust melts in his mouth!

"I also like Pillsbury's Best for biscuits, and cakes—even my most delicate ones."

GUARANTEED for everything you bake, every time you bake. Pillsbury's Best Flour is made from a "tested-wheat" blend of wheats and has our satisfaction-back guarantee to give you same satisfaction in everything you bake . . . bread, cakes, biscuits, pastry . . . every time you use it.

We carry your "baking insurance" for you!

None of this "half-satisfactory" baking with Pillsbury's Best Flour. No questions in your mind when you start to bake—"I wonder how this is going to turn out?" None of those bakings that are too good to throw away ... but too poor to be proud of.

This is the baking insurance that Pillsbury's Best gives you. We have taken out all the doubts before the flour comes to you. The wheat has all been tested—(we pay thousands of dollars extra every year for the fine wheats that go into Pillsbury's Best). The flour is tested, every hour, as it is being milled.

DR. BEVIS SPEAKS AT INAUGURAL TODAY

Universities' Task Discussed by New O. S. U. President.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 25—Dr. Howard L. Bevis, Ohio State university's new president, asserted today that colleges need a broader knowledge of life's various pursuits in order to give students the greatest possible assistance.

The university's task is to fit to each student's need a selection of school pursuits as shall enable him to build a cultural and educational background for his life work," Dr. Bevis said in an address prepared for his inauguration in the university gymnasium.

"But," he continued, "the university still needs to know more about the requirements and opportunities in the various walks of life and how to help the student select his studies.

"With proper support, organization and direction, none of these requirements is beyond our reach. Waste and frustration in countless lives can be avoided."

Touching upon international affairs, Dr. Bevis said that "for us who cherish the civilization wrought by the champions of free spirits and free minds, events now may strike the hour of destiny."

Dr. Bevis pledged himself "four-square for constitutional free speech."

President Clarence A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin, now on leave to direct the national selective service system, declared in a prepared address "there are still those who declare that this is not the practice of democracy. I believe that we shall come very soon to the unanimous opinion that it is the essence of Democratic participation."

foreign situation eased up there were many places he would like to go, including the middle west and Warm Springs, Ga., for Thanksgiving.

He made it plain, however, that he would adhere to his announced rule not to go more than an overnight trip away from the national capital.

Mr. Roosevelt would not comment on the international situation either in Europe or the Far East, but replied in the negative when asked about reports that certain inquiries would be made to him through Spain.

The President did say that he had been reading the newspaper and official dispatches about conditions abroad and that some of the latter confirmed the press reports and some did not.

While the President talked to reporters, it was learned authoritatively that he was watching closely these days four different situations—Spain, disposition of the French fleet, Greece and the Balkans, and the Far East.

All four of these questions, it was said, involved possibilities of trouble.

It was said officially that while these questions did not mean involvement of this country in any way, they might require such presidential actions as have been taken in the past following other serious developments—namely, issuance of proclamations getting Americans out of trouble zones and freezing of investments held in this country by certain foreign interests.

At his press conference, the President was asked whether he considered the French government at Vichy still a friendly power in the light of recent conversations between Premier Marshal Petain and Adolf Hitler.

The President replied certainly, adding that this country still had diplomatic relations with the Petain government.

When the reporter remarked that the United States also still maintained diplomatic relations with Germany, Mr. Roosevelt replied that was right.

The President said the situation regarding Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to London, enroute home, was the same as a few days ago when he remarked the ambassador was returning to report and that it was untrue that Kennedy was resigning.

OHIO'S DRAFT SYSTEM PRAISED IN WASHINGTON

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — A special officer reports that Ohio has set up a smooth-running machine for the selective service national lottery late this month.

Director C. A. Dykstra said that the officer, Capt. William S. Iliff, was returning to Washington after a flying trip to the Buckeye state to advise and cooperate with officials there.

Iliff reported that his consultations with Gov. Bricker and other state officials cleared the way for full coordination of operations in Ohio and national headquarters of the selective service.

Like other field officers, Captain Iliff carried to Director Dykstra suggestions from Buckeye officials on present and future operations of the national undertaking.

BANKERS IN COLUMBUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 25—Declaring that "government competition with local banks usually is followed by government competition in other fields of business," J. D. St. John, vice president of the Toledo Trust Co., last night urged members of the Ohio Association of Bankers to supply every "sound demand for loans to meet that competition." Another speaker was Everett D. Reese, president of the Park National Bank of Newark, O.

MAYOR'S HECKLER

When a man identified as Ben Owen, above, stepped out of a crowd and heckled Fiorello H. LaGuardia, New York's mayor, during a visit to Detroit city hall, the stocky New York executive grabbed the man and shook him, shouting, "You take that back. The heckler, later released by police, yelled at LaGuardia: "Did Boss Flynn send you here?" Presumably he referred to Edward P. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

French Assistance Will Be Great Gain in Hitler's Favor

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Adolf Hitler will have made a great stride—at least on paper—toward consolation of his conquests if the French government accedes to the new Nazi terms for Franco-German cooperation which he is understood to have discussed with Premier Marshal Petain yesterday at their meeting "somewhere in France."

These demands are said to involve even a moderate French cooperation in the war against England, as well as participation in the reconstruction of Europe under the fuehrer's plans for a "new order."

Their acceptance would seem to wipe out the last vestige of chance that democracy may sprout again in unhappy France if the totalitarian dictators win the war.

As I said yesterday, I believe that Hitler's move cuts far deeper than any mere preparation for another offensive against Britain, although that undoubtedly figures in his plans. To my mind, the support which he seeks from France is chiefly moral rather than material, his idea being to safeguard himself in the event of a stalemate in the war with Britain.

If he can secure French moral support or even open acquiescence, unwilling though it undoubtedly will be, he will have removed one of the chief obstacles to his grandiose scheme for remoulding the continent into a unit whose sole business will be to contribute to the might of Germany.

The all - important obstacle which he has to eliminate is, of course, the British empire — of which more anon. That is a continuing program.

If Marshal Petain and his government decide to play along with Hitler it surely will represent an act of expediency rather than of desire to be associated with Nazidom.

Then there's another problem which the aged marshal must face. He must get peace so that his people can get back to work. They need food, and they're going to need it a lot more desperately before this coming winter is over.

CZECHS AID BRITAIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 25—A military agreement providing for organization of a Czech army to cooperate with the British was signed at the foreign office today by Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax and Jan Masaryk, foreign minister of the provisional Czech government in Britain.

FLEE ROUND WORLD

SNEEZE DISRUPTS EGG THROWER'S TRIAL

Spectator Blows Handful of Powder in Courtroom.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 25—A handful of sneeze powder completely upset the South State street court decorum today when the case of Charles Mulrain, 53, who allegedly egged Mr. and Mrs. Wendell L. Willkie Tuesday night, was called.

When the defendant, the complainant and his lawyer; Judge Harold P. O'Connell, the reporters, photographers and spectators stopped sneezing—whoever tossed the sneeze powder wasn't caught—Mulrain pleaded innocent to charges of assault with a deadly weapon, frozen eggs, and disorderly conduct.

Mulrain obtained a continuance until Nov. 12, one week after the election.

He said he wanted time enough to obtain witnesses "to prove I was intoxicated," and that he wanted to obtain lawyers.

"I am terribly sorry about the incident," he said. "It was all done in the spirit of the moment."

Willkie, the Republican candidate, was struck in the left temple by an egg just before his train departed from the La Salle street station and one or more eggs struck Mrs. Willkie in the back, soiling her clothing.

AKRON, O., Oct. 25—An 18-year-old youth was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse and fined $50 and costs today for the ill-advised impulse that sent him to a Willkie rally at Goodyear hall last night armed with eggs.

He did not throw the eggs. As a matter of fact, he didn't get a chance, because cruisermen spied him and he "ditched" his ammunition in a doorway as the officers closed in on him. But in court, he told Judge Claude V. D. Emmons that he had been inspired to use the Republican presidential nominee as a target by stories that he had read of egg-throwing episodes in other cities where the former Akron attorney had made campaign stops.

Agreeing with Emmons that "that is not the American way," the youth said as he heard the stiff penalty meted out, that "after I saw Willkie, I was sorry I had even thought about it."

DRAFT

tery, the card is given a serial number. If a draft board has already issued 1,500 serial numbers, the late registration card would be given No. 1,501.

Then the board determines what the late registrant's order number would have been if his card had been received on time. If his order number would have been No. 300, he will be given Order No. 299-A.

All this procedure insures that a tardy registrant or a man, whose card is delayed in the mails or otherwise held up, will take his proper place in the draft.

Interest Runs High

Marion county men—and their womenfolk—continue to display a strong interest in their serial numbers which have been posted by the draft boards. The numbers are also available at The Star office at any time during office hours.

In looking through the hundreds of names for their own, some of the men are lucky, finding their number in a minute or two. Some take as long as a half hour. Some have given up in disgust.

One man, after looking for 20 minutes or so, declared:

"Well, I can't find the thing. They can come and get me if they want me."

"They probably will," replied another man.

The draft law provides that men must keep in close touch with their boards. Failure to receive a notice of any kind through the mail does not excuse a man.

MRS. JENNIE MILLER DIES AT CRESTLINE

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Oct. 25 — Mrs. Jennie Miller, widow of Godfried Miller, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday afternoon at the home of her sisters, Misses Sarah and Alice Dunn, with whom she had made her home since the death of Mr. Miller four years ago. She was a lifelong resident of Crestline.

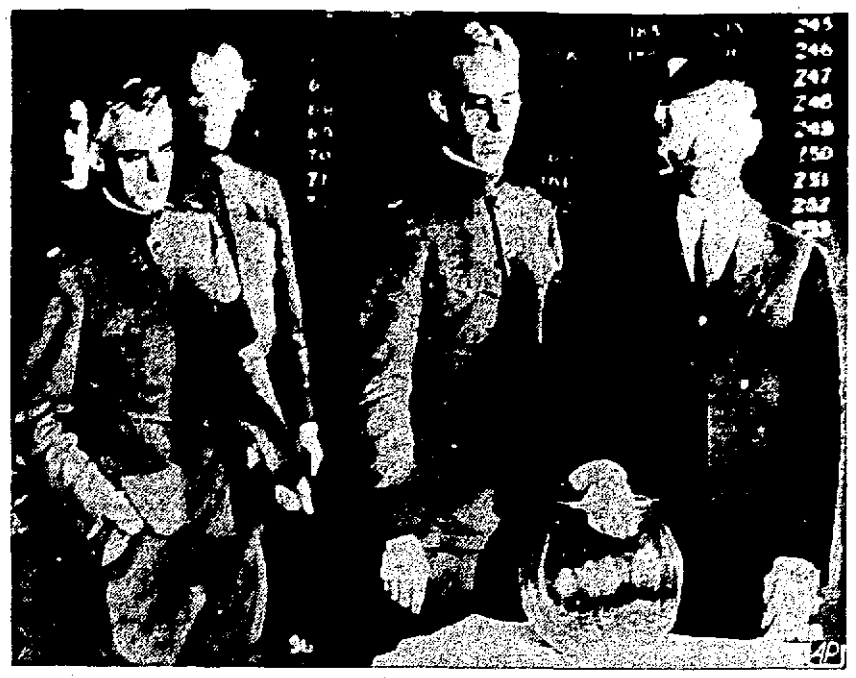
CLUB WOMEN MEET

SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 25—Two hundred women of the middle-north district of the Ohio Federation of Women's club are in convention here today.

A NEW CAST WILL REENACT THIS SCENE



At noon on Oct. 29, in Washington, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson will draw from this goldfish bowl the first number in a nation-wide lottery to determine the order of calling men for military training under selective service. This scene (above) took place on July 20, 1917, when Secretary of War Newton D. Baker (right) drew the first number in the World war draft, in Washington.

MARION ELKS GO TO UPPER SANDUSKY

Present Program at Joint Dinner Meeting.

Forty members of Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, attended a dinner meeting of the Upper Sandusky Elks lodge Thursday night and presented a short program following the dinner. Technicolor motion pictures of the Elks pilgrimage to the Harding Memorial last June were shown by James Fransila, a member of the Marion lodge, and Charles Silber, navy recruiting officer here, showed motion pictures of the navy's part in the national defense program.

Next Thursday night a Halloween party for members of the Marion lodge and their families will be held at the Elks hall. The program will open with a 6:30 dinner to be served by members of the Elks Women's club.

Plans are being made for a delegation from the Marion lodge to attend a dinner meeting of the Columbus Elks lodge next Wednesday night at which a class will be initiated honoring C. W. Wallace, secretary of the Columbus lodge. Joseph G. Buch of Trenton, N. J., grand exalted ruler of the order, will speak.

REPORTS OF DISCHARGES BY OHIO WPA PROBED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—The works projects administration is investigating a complaint that federal relief workers in Ohio were discharged for political reasons.

Officials said field representatives were conducting the inquiry in cooperation with state WPA offices.

Rep. Earl Lewis, Republican of Ohio, sent to national and state offices recently a complaint that a number of WPA workers were dismissed, one because his daughter had a Republican sticker on her automobile windshield.

Lewis requested an inquiry on the basis of letters he said he received from workers on a project near Marietta.

CRAWFORD CO. MUSICIANS ON KIRKPATRICK PROGRAM

The choirs of the Brokensword and Liberty churches will join for a song festival in Liberty church at Kirkpatrick Sunday at 8 p. m. Approximately 60 voices will take part in the program, which will be open to the public.

The first half of the program will be presented by students of Mrs. Margaret Gillespie of Bucyrus, minister of music at the two churches. Bently Ford of Bucyrus, baritone, will be the guest soloist, and Miss Janet Crider of Bucyrus the guest pianist.

Rev. Albert Manton, pastor of the First Methodist church at Bucyrus, will give a brief talk on the value of music.

1,407 CITY SCHOOL PUPILS IMMUNIZED

Gives Annual Anti-Diphtheria Treatment.

A total of 1,407 school children in the city were immunized against diphtheria yesterday in the annual immunization program sponsored by the city health board.

Health department officials reported that the number immunized yesterday is about "average" as compared with the number in recent years. The immunization was voluntary and was given only to children whose parents gave written permission. Cost of the treatments was shared by the city health board and the city board of education.

The immunization was in charge of Dr. W. P. Johnson of Somerton, O., a former immunization expert in the state health department. He was assisted by Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, Miss Kathleen Thomas, city nurse, Mrs. Urton Anderson, P.-T. A. leader and registered nurse, and Miss Mary Ellen Kerr, clerk of the city health board. Following are listed the number immunized in each school:

Glenwood, 169; Oakland Heights, 183; Olney, 100; Pearl, 139; Greenwood, 62; Forest Lawn, 54; George Washington, 78; Mark, 158; North Main, 87; St. Mary, 124; Oak, 93; and Silver, 160.

Sent Home After Age Is Made Known By Mother.

A 15-year-old Park boulevard youth was snatched from a year's training with Co. D of the 166th Infantry at Camp Shelby near Hattiesburg, Miss., it was learned today.

The boy enlisted some time ago and was in uniform Wednesday night at the Armory, joining in the farewell party given by the Non-Commissioned Officers' club.

His mother appeared at the Armory and told Capt. H. L. Taylor that her son was only 15 and that she didn't want him to go to camp. The commanding officer immediately ordered the boy into civilian clothes and sent him home. When he enlisted the boy assured company officers that he was 18.

Misses Helen Felchlin, Miriam Knickle and Maureen Jean Flach were enrolled in the Young Women's Missionary society of First Evangelical and Reformed church at a meeting Tuesday night with Miss Margaret Andrews of 316 South High street. Miss Annadale Nixon was in charge of the lesson study. Contest honors went to Miss Mary Howison and Miss Felchlin.

Building Quiz

Q. What type of wood lath is recommended and how should it be applied?

A. Wood lath should be No. 1 grade and should have a thickness of at least five-sixteenths of an inch. Each lath should be nailed to the studs or furring strips with three-penny nails. At intersecting interior partitions laths should be broken so as not to carry through the partition and should be nailed to solid bearing. Joints at the end of laths should be broken or staggered every seventh lath. Vertical or diagonal lathing should not be permitted.

WAR

adopted by the 21 American republics last July, a 14-nation committee has been established with emergency powers to assume control of such possessions, and Washington sources said any occupation of these colonies would be handled by U. S. naval forces with the consent of the other republics represented on the committee.

U. S. attention has been centered on Martinque, refuge of several French naval vessels, including the aircraft carrier Bearn, which has aboard some 100 American-made airplanes.

A thundering chorus of anti-aircraft "archies," blasting at Nazi raiders twisting through a cloud-specked sky, belied rumors that London's defense guns were wearing out and that ammunition was running low.

Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert, taking official note of the rumors, broadcast a denial last night.

Britain's aerial counter-offensive, displaying ever greater strength struck hard at Germany's war foundries during the night, the London air ministry reported.

German Points Hit

After daylight attacks on Ostend, Gravelines, Calais and a German convoy off Zeebrugge, RAF night raiders spilled their cargoes of high explosives over oil plants at Hamburg, Hannover and Gelsenkirchen; docks and shipping at Hamburg, Cuxhaven, Bremerhaven, Wilhelmshaven, Le Havre, Rotterdam and Lorient; railway communications and freight yards at Emmerich, Munster, Hamm, Botrop and Duisburg; and the channel "invasion" ports of Flushing, Ostend and Dunkerque.

(The German high command said there were a number of dead and injured in Berlin and Hamburg and fires and property damage in the harbor and other sections of Hamburg, where it said the British attacks were concentrated. Damage to houses and a lumberyard in Berlin also was reported).

(The number of killed in Berlin and Hamburg was "extremely high," said a German broadcast heard in New York by NBC, and "indiscriminate bombing of the German civilian population by the RAF is vastly increasing.")

The London air ministry news service said that the British fliers, in a nearly three-hour attack on Berlin, came down low to make sure of their targets and smacked the Putlitz-Strasse and Lehrter railway stations for the second night in succession in this, the 23rd raid on Berlin.

First Wave Strikes

The first wave of raiders reached Berlin just after midnight and attacked the railway yards adding to the "extensive damage" inflicted the previous night, the news service said.

A second wave of bombers then hit the same targets half an hour later.

Still others started a "huge fire" on another military objective, it was said, and guided succeeding waves which crossed and re-crossed the city for an hour and a quarter despite fiercely blazing German guns.

Mussolini's high command reported quickening activity in the Near East, with Italian bombers attacking many objectives in the rich Egyptian valley of the Nile —including Port Said, guardian of the Mediterranean entrance to the Suez Canal; an airfield at Catbhur, northwest of Cairo; and defense works at Aboukir, 14 miles east of Alexandria.

Fires were started "everywhere," the Italian high command asserted.

Italian troops routed a motorized force east of Sidi Barrani, Egypt, the Fascist communique said, and apparently heavy fighting raged between Italians and British motorized forces on the Eritrean - Sudan frontier. The communique said Italian victories resulted.

It's WHAT He Says to 'Em, Not HOW, That Makes Buck Shaw's Teams Click

By SAM JACKSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SANTA CLARA Calif—Every victory that little Santa Clara university adds to its remarkable football record is a defeat for the time-honored, nosy, up-and-down school of coaching psychology

In four years Coach Lawrence T Buck Shaw has lifted his school and himself from obscurity to prominence in the national gridiron picture but in showing his boys how to win he has seldom raised his voice above a conversational pitch

Since his promotion from assistant coach in 1936 Santa Clara has won 28 games lost 4 and tied 3 The Broncos have scored 517 points to opponents 111, and have twice been victors in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl.

No Emotional Appeals

Shaw's quiet, thorough organization of team play was characteristic of him long before the war started but it suggests the careful, unemotional planning that has gone into the successful exploits of a mechanized army

No harangues or emotional appeals are heard at half time in the Santa Clara dressing room The players lie down and relax while the coach—usually without mentioning names—analyzes the play in a quit tone Strategy for the second half is outlined by suggestion

BUCK SHAW
A careful unemotional planner

At the Chicago all-star game where he coached, Shaw was known as the Great White Father This was partly due to his premature gray hair (he's 41) but largely to his calm and quiet He was a favorite with the players

Shaw's policy is in contrast to that of his great preceptor, Knute Rockne The Broncos each played in the Notre Dame line in 1919 1920 and 1921 and heard plenty of Rockne's evangelical appeals but believes that at times the boys get a little too stormed up by the orations of the famous coach

Shaw's Plan Works Too

Rockne's system worked but so far so has Shaw's, which sends the boys into the game relatively calm

In his fifth season as head of the Broncos Shaw finds himself too weak on reserve strength to use his favorite trick of throwing in an entire new team at a time But with some good talent in the first string, notably Jimmy Johnson, his ace left half, Shaw faces his schedule with reasonable optimism

It doesn't take an all-winning season to give Santa Clara a moral victory It is a small school where the padres make no concession to athletes, but its schedule is cluttered up with large state universities

RURAL MAIL CARRIER NAMED AT MT. GILEAD

Dewey Rogers of Chester Township Gets Post.

By The United Press

MT GILEAD Oct 25—Dewey Rogers of Chester township was named rural mail carrier for Route 1 out of the Marengo postoffice according to an announcement of postal officials this week

The post has been vacant for the last 18 months since the retirement of Charles Gardner in May 1939 Rogers appointment is effective immediately

Refusal of the Morrow county Democratic central committee to endorse any of the men receiving highest grades in the civil service examination held shortly before the position became vacant resulted in a deadlock and delay in filling the position

Although Rogers a Republican did not receive the endorsement of the Democratic committee it was unofficially reported that several members of the committee recommended him for the appointment

Central Jr. High Clinches Title

Central Junior High scored its eighteen football team scored in every period to beat Thomas A Edison gridders a 32 13 setback yesterday afternoon at Harding stadium The victory assured the Uptowners of the 1940 city championship and climaxed with success the drive for their fourth successive title

Cecil scored on the second play of the game when Quarterback Daly broke away for a 30 yard touchdown jaunt He also scored on two later duplicate runs of 30 yards each in the second and fourth periods A 25 yard Titus-to-Harbolt pass and a 45 yard run by Titus accounted for other Central touchdowns Both added points came on dropkicks Harbolt and Lesick converting

Edison's scores came in the final period Both were engineered by Jack Koegpen who rifled passes for 25 and 35 yard touchdown plays with Woodrow Hayley and William Drumm on the receiving end Clifford Drake converted with a drop kick Edison was without the services of its regular quarterback Willard Benson who was injured in the game last week with Vernon

Coach Ralph Simpson estimated he used some 30 to 40 squad members in the Central line-up He indicated he expects a close contest in next week's season-ending game when Central and Vernon meet.

However even a loss for Central next week will not affect its first-place position because Vernon has already lost two games and Edison has completed its season with three losses. If Vernon wins next week the Easterners will hold clear claim to second place while a loss for Vernon will throw Vernon and Edison into a tie with one win and three losses each In that event Central's perfect record will be marred but it still will finish the season one full game ahead of Vernon and two games ahead of Edison

LABOR EYED BY CANDIDATES

Both Sides Seek Support of Workers as Election Day Nears.

By The Associated Press

Emphasis on labor's stake in the outcome of the 1940 election marked the fresh campaign em-

Wendell L. Willkie returned to New York and Pennsylvania for speeches after telling an audience last night that efforts to put an end to this era of bad feeling" between labor and industry.

At the same time, Henry A. Wallace contended in a Detroit address that because of the Roosevelt administration "there were millions more men employed and spending their wages" and appealed for workers to vote Democratic in the interest of business growth.

Sharing the spotlight with principals in the campaign was John L. Lewis, C.I.O. president, who will speak over some 300 radio stations (NBC, CBS and MBS) from 9-9:90 o'clock, eastern standard time, tonight. Lewis, it is believe; may disclose his choice between President Roosevelt and Willkie.

Cooperation Needed

Willkie said that there could not be a growing national economy "except by understandings and cooperation between labor and management."

"With the help of the leaders, both of labor and of industry, I want to put an end to this era of bad feeling," Willkie said.

Herbert Hoover made his first speech of the campaign at Columbus, O., last night and asserted that the New Deal is creating an economic system which "drifts down the suicide road of national socialism."

He asserted that Mr. Roosevelt obtained extraordinary powers which point to "an American breed of totalitarianism" and charged that in the past seven years peoples' liberties had been shackled.

Senator Charles L. McNary, the Republican vice presidential candidate, said in a speech at Kendallville, Ind., that the administration's reciprocal trade program had "sold part of the farmers' domestic market down the river."

Many Others Speak

Before microphones and on platforms in many sections, campaign speakers continued the oratory last night. Highlights included:

New York: Mayor LaGuardia declared that Willkie "seemingly believes that anything goes in a campaign, that no responsibility attached to a pledge, statement or promise."

Rochester, N. Y.: Raymond Moley, erstwhile administration aid who is supporting Willkie, said, "give the executive the further power that this election involves and the congress will bow before him like wheat before a storm."

Philadelphia: Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, said the country was "just about to go under "when Mr. Roosevelt took office."

Cleveland: General Hugh S. Johnson declared that if President Roosevelt is reelected "war is certain and will come soon," and then predicted Willkie's election.

SOUTHERN OHIO HEARS CANDIDATES

By The Associated Press

Robbed of the political spotlight for a day by the presence in Ohio of prominent figures in the presidential campaign, Ohio candidates resumed their drives for election in the southern part of the state today.

Gov. Bricker, seeking reelection on the Republican ticket, had engagements at Dayton, Eaton and Cincinnati, while his Democratic opponent, former Gov. Davey, was to speak at Norwood.

Both candidates for United States senator, Republican Harold H. Burton and Democrat John McSweeney, scheduled appearances in Cincinnati.

Davey, in a speech at Warren last night, called Bricker "the greatest enemy labor ever had in Ohio."

Burton spoke at Delaware and Marysville, appealing for the election of Wendell L. Willkie as president because he "is the nation's best guarantee for peace."

CROWD JAMS GALION FOR CELEBRATION

Mardi Gras Attracts Several Thousand to City.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 25—Jamming the down-town streets last night, an estimated five or six thousand people were out to witness and take part in one of Galion's most successful Mardi Gras events. This climaxed a day of parades, one for children having been held in the afternoon, and the adult parade of the evening.

Led by the Galion police and city officials followed by the Galion High school band, the masqueraders marched down Harding Way East from the Big Four depot to Union street on Harding Way West. In the first division were the floats and large delegations and the Leesville High school band, while the individuals, couples and groups in masquerade costumes were in the second division which included the drum corps of Scarbrough post, The American Legion.

Cash prizes were awarded as follows: best dressed woman, first, Sylva Baughman of Bucyrus; second, Mrs. Edward Herndon of Galion. Best dressed man, first, J. F. Self of Galion; second, George Cook, Galion. Most comical dressed woman, first, M. C. Mahon of Bucyrus; second, Elizabeth Zipf of Crestline. Most comical dressed man, first, Tom McCreary of Crestline; second, Gladys Deisler of Galion.

Best dressed couple, first, Jennie Stroup and Pauline Phelps, Galion; Marie Englehorn and John Myers, Galion. Most comical dressed couple, Harold Felck and Charles Spengler of R. F. D. 1, Galion; second, Mrs. J. K. Kunkel and Mrs. Guy Cook of Galion. Most comical group of five or more, a club composed of Mrs. Fred Kruger, Catherine Plack, Mrs. Kenneth Badgley, Dorothy Volk, Harriet Resch and Mrs. Pat Pangallo.

Prize for the largest delegation went to the Ohio Overcoat company, with Sam Mittman as leader. Helfrich's Florist shop took the prize for the best decorated float, and the largest delegation from the farthest distance was the Good Neighbors club from Burgener's Corners, east of Galion, led by H. S. Stone. Second prize for the largest delegation from the greatest distance went to the Sandusky Township Community club.

Headed by Mayor W. M. King and Police Chief George Moody, followed by Billy Rhinehart, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rhinehart, riding his pony, the parade for children in the afternoon started promptly at 4 o'clock from the city building. The Galion high school band preceded the masqueraders. There were more than 300 participants who passed over the reviewing stand before the three judges, Mrs. L. E. Place, Grace Weston and Rev. P. E. Auer.

JOHNSON PREDICTS VICTORY FOR WILLKIE

General Declares War Due Soon If Roosevelt Wins.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 25 — Gen. Hugh Johnson, former close associate of President Roosevelt, takes the stand today that he would trust the country's fate to Wendell L. Willkie but not to Mr. Roosevelt, for if the latter is re-elected, he said, "war is certain and will come soon."

He predicts the election of Willkie, the Republican candidate, because, he said, "this country now yearns for what the whole world needs—a return to honesty and faith in the promises by which men live."

Johnson spoke here at a banquet of the American Society for Metals and on a radio program last night sponsored by the Democratic Friends of Willkie.

"I am convinced that if Mr. Roosevelt is elected, war is certain and will come soon," he said.

"The principal reason I am for Wendell Willkie is because, in this crisis, I feel I can entrust to him the fate of my beloved country. But try as I will—and I have tried in the watches of the night—I can no longer feel so of Mr. Roosevelt."

Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel Corp., introduced Gen. Johnson and referred jokingly to a statement by Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, that Johnson and Girdler would be appointed cabinet members if Willkie were elected.

Johnson responded that if he and Girdler "don't get in the cabinet both might wind up in a concentration camp."

Girdler warned, in another speech in connection with the national metal congress, that some steel users have been influenced by "excited stories" of an imminent shortage and are buying beyond current needs.

He said this sort of buying could "create an artificial steel shortage" and cautioned "there is no reason for anything but orderly buying by steel consumers."

Madeira Island, popular British winter haven 600 miles southwest of Gibraltar, has an area equal to that of the city of New York—310 square miles.

Husking Title Goes To Hardin Co. Man

crowd of Hardin county residents. Spectators who came to root for him and other contestants almost overdid their displays of enthusiasm, jamming around the contestants so closely that officials were busy keeping the rows clear for the huskers. The crowd was so big that spectators around one contestant would bulge into the groups following others nearby, and for a time it was necessary to take precautions to keep the crowd from trampling down the corn the huskers were about to work in.

Cheers and A Kiss

The crowd cheered some more when Collins and others who finished near the top were taken to a platform in the center of the concession area for presentation of prizes. Collins modestly said he did his best and thanked those who had been his followers during the competition. Later his wife joined him on the platform to voice her pleasure over his victory. She even gave her husband a kiss for the benefit of photographers.

Collins and Sunday, as champion and runner-up, will represent Ohio in the national husking contest Oct. 30 at Davenport, Ia. A free trip to the contest was a part of their winnings yesterday.

When the show was all over and departing automobiles sped from the contest grounds late yesterday, everyone seemed satisfied. The weather had been ideal—Arden Millisor of the county engineer's office who served as official announcer over a public address system both days of the contest and who introduced the speakers and winners when awards were made declared that California couldn't have offered nicer weather than the huskers and spectators enjoyed in Marion county. The crowds had measured up to everyone's expectations, commercial exhibitors had been swamped with as many prospective customers as they could comfortably handle and most concession operators had been kept busy for two days. Officials were pleased because everything went smoothly and there were few complaints about any phase of the contest.

Names of Score Keepers

In addition to contest officials previously listed in The Star, the following group served as score keepers: Homer Kile of Caledonia, Donald Williams, Clarence Washburn, George Bosley Jr. and A. J. Bishop of Morral, and Willard Davidson of near Marion. R. L. Bazler, superintendent of the university farm at Ohio State university, sorted the gleanings, charging against the huskers only the ears that were deemed marketable.

Among the Wednesday contest visitors, it was announced yesterday, was John T. Brown, state director of agriculture. He was especially interested in the tent maintained on the grounds in charge of Stanley E. Laybourne, chief of the division of plant industry, and arranged by Mr. Laybourne and the heads of other divisions to handle any questions farmers might present. Also a busy spot was the corn clinic conducted by Earl Jones, extension agronomist at Ohio State university, and Homer Porteus, county farm agent.

Summary of Results

A summary of yesterday's contest results follow:

Chester Collins, 24, of Hardin county, 2,685 pounds, deductions 63.6 pounds, net corn 2,021.4 pounds or 28.8 bushels.

Court News

Licensed To Wed

A marriage license was granted in probate court yesterday to Paul Eaton Swartz, bookkeeper, of 424 West Church street and Donna Maria Voltz, clerk, of 207 Belmont street.

Divorce Action

Answer Filed—By Ruth E. Justice to divorce proceedings brought against her Sept. 9, 1940 by Ralph R. Justice, seeking decree on grounds of neglect; Mrs. Justice, represented by Kenneth A. Robinson, denies allegations of the plaintiff; Lewis M. Francis, attorney for Mr. Justice.

Cause Settled

Suit for $408.24 damages brought by Joseph F. Dible against Orlando E. Barks has been settled, according to an entry filed in common pleas court. The plaintiff, represented by Guthery & Guthery, brought action Nov. 2, 1939 in connection with a highway accident April 15, 1939. Donithen & Michel represented Mr. Barks.

Report Approved

Final report of Edward J. Ruzzo, receiver for the Haberman Chevrolet Co., has been approved and confirmed, according to an entry filed in common pleas court. Judge Hector S. Young ordered the receiver and bondsmen released. The receivership followed court action brought by Harry W. Haberman and others against the company.

Suit Filed

Contending that a codicil to the will of the late Henry E. Zimmerman, admitted to probate court 12 days before his death on Aug. 26, 1940, does not constitute his last will and testament, Edna H. Staley and others have brought suit in common pleas court against Anna Zimmerman and others. The plaintiffs, represented by Martin & Reed, ask that an issue be made as to whether the said writing constitutes the deceased's last will.

Here's Daily Schedule Set For Marion Troops at Army Camp

Marion's men of Co. D and Headquarters Battalion, 166th Infantry, when they arrived today at Camp Shelby near Hattiesburg, Miss., found their troop training schedule awaiting them, according to a news report from Hattiesburg.

Basic training for the 37th Division, of which the 166th Infantry is a part, started yesterday at camp.

The Ohio troops will be schooled in the use of heavy and light weapons, military transportation and other phases of army operations, according to the news account. The enlisted men will be drilled in fundamentals such as saluting, and how to erect and keep tents.

The troops will drill 44½ hours each week, twice daily on five days and once on Saturday.

The drill schedule follows:

Daily except Saturday and Sunday: assembly for drill at 7 a. m.; recall at 11:30; first drill call in afternoon, 12:50 p. m.; assembly at 1, and recall at 4:30. On Saturday the 7 to 11:30 a. m. schedule will be followed.

The soldiers arise at 5:30 a. m. daily except Sunday. Mess call is at 6:15, sick call at 6:40; noon mess call, 12; drills resume at 1.

The guard mount call is sounded daily at 4:50 a. m., with assembly 10 minutes later. Retreat is at 5:20 p. m. and final assembly at 5:30.

Supper mess is at 6 p. m., call to quarters at 9:30, and taps at 10 p. m.

Marion units were scheduled to arrive at camp at 3:35 p. m. today after nearly 19 hours on the train. They left here yesterday at 8:55 a. m. and enroute south were joined by two other units, the anti-tank platoon from Delaware at Delaware and Co. G from Lancaster at the Parsons avenue railroad yards in Columbus.

FREE PRESS THREAT SEEN BY PATTERSON

Declares Public Being Prepared for Abolition.

By The Associated Press

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 25—Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, claims the American public "is being conditioned to accept the abolition of a free press.

Addressing the National Advertisers' association convention last night, he said such abolition would remove "our right as newspapers to print the news without distortion and our right to comment on the news—our right to take sides and to be vigilant in our watchfulness for the preservation of the American way."

He urged delegates to make a united stand against "common enemies" among "an ignorant bureaucracy that day by day lays down a barrage in a desperate effort to make us retreat toward an equalitarian destitution." Destruction of a free press is the "first and essential step" in such a campaign, he added.

Patterson asserted that "bureaucrats" were "trying to plant the seeds of suspicion and distrust in the minds of newspaper readers, so that if or when the time comes, they will be justified in taking over and destroying, either by regimentation or economic pressure, free newspapers."

He said Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes and Senator Sherman Minton, Democrats of Indiana, were among such "bureaucrats."

The editor challenged a statement by President Roosevelt that his administration had received "unfair" newspaper treatment. Patterson said that polls of newspaper readers showed that by large majorities they believed that both the Democratic and Republican parties had been treated fairly by the press.

PRESENTS CORSAGE

Mrs. Myrtle Tavenner presented one of the corsages to Mrs. David H. Peterson, deputy of District No. 8, Pythian Sisters at the organization meeting of the chiefs of the district, yesterday in the Odd Fellows hall. In the account of the meeting Mrs. Tavenner's name was listed incorrectly.

[illegible] Miller, residence unknown, will take notice that on October 17, 1940, Ethel Lacy Miller filed her petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio, praying for divorce from him on the grounds of Gross Neglect of Duty, Extreme Cruelty and Wilful Absence. Said cause will be for hearing in said court on or after November 25, 1940. No. 26404.

ETHEL LACY MILLER

Howard E. Johnson, Attorney.

NOTICE OF SALE

In pursuance of orders of the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, made in Case No. [illegible] and Case No. 26324, being actions brought to sell the real and personal property of The Cayouette Products Company for the purpose of winding up the affairs of said company and paying the debts of said company, I will offer at private sale, with public bidding, the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion and bounded and described as follows:

Being a part of the middle part of Section twenty-three (23) Township five (5) South, Range fifteen (15) east, and more particularly described as follows: Beginning at an iron bar in the east line of Boone Avenue produced northward at a distance of six hundred and six and ninety - three hundredths (606.93) feet north of an iron bar located at the intersection of the North line of Wilson Avenue and the east line of Boone Avenue, in the City of Marion, Ohio; thence continuing north one degree thirty minutes (1° 30') East on the east line of Boone Avenue produced northward, three hundred and seventy-two and eighty-four hundredths (372.84) feet to an iron bar; thence north eighty-eight degrees twenty-seven minutes (88° 27') east and parallel with the north line of lots numbers seventeen hundred forty seven (1747) and seventeen hundred twenty-eight (1728) produced eastward, two hundred and thirty-four (234) feet to an iron bar; thence south one degree thirty minutes (1° 30') west three hundred seventy-two and eighty-four hundredths (372.84) feet to an iron bar in the north line of a proposed street, said bar being also located in the north line of lots numbers seventeen hundred forty - seven (1747) and seventeen hundren twenty-eight (1728) produced eastward; thence south eighty-eight degrees twenty-seven minutes (88° 27') West on the aforesaid north line of Lots Numbers seventeen hundred forty-seven (1747) and seventeen hundred twenty-eight (1728) produced eastward, two hundred and thirty-four (234) feet to an iron bar which is the place of beginning and containing two (2) acres.

Said real estate consists of two acres of land on which is located modern, fire-proof, brick and cement manufacturing plant and offices.

Said real estate is appraised at $[illegible].00 and must be sold for not less than two thirds of said appraisal value, and said sale is for cash.

I will also offer at private sale, with public bidding for cash, the following described personal property.

Office furniture and fixtures appraised at $160.00; machinery and equipment consisting of motors, [illegible] automatic screw machines, [illegible] presses, drill presses, tap machines, milling machines, drills, heating oven, double blowers, steel and wooden benches, steel racks, trucks, cupboards, platform scales, 500 metal boxes, vices, and equipment and tools, appraised at $3999.50.

The foregoing property will be sold to the highest bidder, subject to the approval and confirmation of the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio.

Said sale will be held on Tuesday, the 4th day of December, 1940, at one o'clock, P. M. on the premises located at the North end of Boone Avenue, in the City of Marion County, Ohio.

Full description of property will be furnished on application.

Joseph M. Justice, Receiver of The Cayouette Products Company.

J. Wilbur Jacoby, Attorney for Receiver.

MARYSVILLE GUARD CO. OFF FOR CAMP

Unit Makes Trip to Shelby with New Lexington Outfit.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 25—Company E of Marysville entrained for Camp Shelby, Miss., here at 5:30 p. m. last evening amidst probably the greatest ovation since the local company went to war in 1917. Townspeople turned out en-masse to bid farewell to the company.

Company E and Company F of New Lexington were the last companies to leave for camp in the 166th infantry and the last of the 37th division to leave Ohio.

They arrived in Columbus at 6:15 p. m. and were to leave there at 8 p. m. for camp. Company F will also be on the train with Co. E the entire train being made up of six pullmans, two baggage cars and one cook car.

The local high school band paraded with the company to the railroad station as well as business men who closed their places of business to see the men off.

The company has 74 enlisted men and four officers. The officers are Capt. H. L. Snapp, first Lieutenant W. R. Dayton and Second Lieutenant J. K. Mills of Columbus and Second Lieutenant Frank Collins of Delaware. Snapp and Dayton are both of Marysville.

LA RUE AND RICHWOOD COUPLE EXCHANGE VOWS

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD — Miss Louise Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ryan of near LaRue and Ebby Schmelzer, son of Frank Schmelzer of Southern Pines, N. C., were married Wednesday at the Methodist parsonage at Marysville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edwin Swinburne in the presence of Mrs. Gertrude Hancock and Mrs. Edna Fausnaugh both of Richwood. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Schmelzer left immediately for Jeffersonville, Ind. Mr. Schmelzer received word Wednesday morning to report at once to the Jeffersonville Quartermaster Depot, Jeffersonville, Ind., where he will be employed. For the past twelve years Mr. Schmelzer has been employed in the Riley Hardware Harness Store in Richwood.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen Ends His Confession and Lillian Persuades Him NOT To Repeat It to Queen Olga!

"I ONLY know that Father appeared glad to get your message, and wanted to see you as soon as possible," I said cautiously, for it was no part of mine to tell Philip Veritzen that my father had expected his message, and had said, "It all fits in," when I brought him his request.

"You can imagine it was a most welcome reaction to me," Philip said. "When he sent back the command—for it was nothing else—to come to the farm, I was astonished—and gratified. I made hasty arrangements, put the troupe under the command of the stage manager with instructions to take what is virtually a vacation, and hurried over here. The rest you know."

"Not what the Chief said," Lillian commented quietly.

"He said very little," Philip answered. "He listened to my story, gave me a verbal pat of approval for my decision to come here and acquaint him with the tale of Leslie's activities, and put the same question that you did concerning my knowledge or suspicion of the identity of the expected messenger. Then he told me to ask you where I was to put my things, and said that the only task I would have in the siege would be to deal with the messenger Leslie is planning to send to me. I am to make sure that he gets inside, I am to pretend to play into his hands until I find out what Leslie's plans really are, and then I am to deliver the messenger into your father's hands for interrogation."

Sinister and Familiar

I gave a little shiver at the word, which to me was sinister and familiar, but Lillian is made of sterner stuff.

"I don't envy him," she commented briefly. Then she gave her old friend a whimsical glance.

"The tale being ended," she said, "you should be ready for your reward. Olga can't see you in her suite, because, as you know, Olina is asleep after a severe nervous headache. But she can bring her over here—that is, if you'd like to see her."

There was no mistaking the sound that came from his lips. It was an anguished moan, and Lillian gave me a significant look which told me she had anticipated this reaction of his, and was prepared to deal with it.

"If I would like to see her!" he repeated bitterly. "But it probably is the last time I shall see her. She never will want to see my face again after I tell her what Leslie revealed to me of my actions."

Lillian sprang from her chair, fairly hurtled herself across the room, and taking him by the coat lapels, shook him until I feared for the carefully tailored seams.

"Phil! Phil!" she apostrophized. "Don't tell me your going maudlin on me at this late day. You've nothing to confess to Olga."

His face could have served as a cartoon labeled "Blank Astonishment."

"Nothing to confess!" he echoed. "I have everything to confess."

"Not a single syllable," she reiterated firmly. "Now listen to me and heed what I say."

She picked the points off on her fingers as she spoke and made them impressive, while Philip Veritzen watched her with fascinated eyes.

"In the first place," she began, "nobody was seriously injured either in body or mind or soul.

"In the second place, you can't possibly be blamed for something you did when your mind was so off key that you can't remember your actions.

"In the third place, Leslie is probably lying in his teeth when he says you put him up to that deviltry.

Don't Confess

"And—in the fourth place, there is no possible chance that Olga will ever find out what he has said—unless you are fool enough to tell her."

She stopped, only I knew because she had talked herself out of breath, but Philip Veritzen did not speak—aloud. His eyes were eloquent, as those of a suddenly reprieved prisoner might have been.

"Lots of women have that confession complex," she went on scathingly, "and ruin their lives, and worse, those of their husbands. But I haven't seen many men with it, and I am surely surprised that a man of your mental caliber should have admitted it to your soul."

RECORD VOTE SEEN IN NOV. 5 ELECTION

Estimate 50 Million May Go to Polls in U. S.

(Copyright, 1940 by The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Heavy registrations throughout the country, particularly in the big cities, indicated today that a history-breaking popular vote of around 50,000,000 may be cast in the presidential election next month.

Ohio's vote was estimated at 3,250,000 against 3,012,425 in 1938.

A compilation of official and estimated registrations in each state disclosed a possible total vote of 49,719,200 or about 37 for every 100 of population.

This figure compares with an actual vote of 45,647,117 in the Roosevelt-Landon contest in 1936, and 39,816,522 in the Roosevelt-Hoover election of 1932.

It is based on an analysis of voter-filings and other data showing 60,376,979 may be eligible to vote in the November 5 elections, or about 45 per cent of the total population of 131,409,881.

Comparison of the eligible vote four years ago with the actual vote cast revealed that from 15 to 20 per cent of those qualified remained away from the polls. In some southern states the stay-at-home vote ran as high as 50 per cent. This was taken into account in arriving at this year's estimated vote.

The census bureau estimates the number of "potential" voters this year at 80,528,000.

However, many potential voters never take the trouble to qualify by registering or taking other necessary steps prescribed by the various states.

40 AT GREEN CAMP CHURCH FAMILY NIGHT

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP — About 40 attended the Family night meeting of the Baptist church Wednesday. Games were led by Rev. Charles W. Harmon, pastor. Singing was directed by Mrs. Donna Ruth Jones. The program was in charge of Misses Grace Clunk, Mary Wolfinger and Arline Sorreles.

Miss Clunk and Mrs. Grace Weston sang, accompanied by Mrs. Sperry W. Long, and Arline Sorreles sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Walter Long. Anna Disterdick and Helen Hopkins were captains of teams in a contest. Mr. and Mrs. Sperry W. Long and Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Johnston were in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. Helen Annette was elected president of Ye Pastyme club Wednesday when the club met with Mrs. Mildred Johnston at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Iva D. Johnston of Marion. Other officers are Mrs. Mildred Lanius, vice president; Mrs. Mildred Johnston, secretary; Mrs. Grace Weston, treasurer. Devotions were led by Mrs. Virginia Sorreles. Mrs. Doris Bosse and Mrs. Sorreles were in charge of the program. Contests prizes were awarded Mrs. Grace Weston and Mrs. Doris Bosse. Miss Mary Wolfinger won the guessing box. Mrs. Donna Ruth Jones, Mrs. Ruth Wolfinger and Mrs. Grace Weston were appointed to arrange programs for the new year.

SET FARM INCOME AT NINE BILLIONS

Predict Figure Will Reach New High Since 1929.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—The agriculture department predicted today that farmers, for the first time since 1929, would receive this year a total cash income of at least $9,000,000,000.

Such an income would compare with $8,516,000,000 reported for 1939 and $11,221,000,000 for 1929.

The department said favorable weather conditions this fall had boosted production and that consequently prospective marketings were now larger than seemed probable in August when the 1940 estimate of total cash income was $8,900,000,000.

"Present prospects are that the output of grain is somewhat larger than appeared probable on Aug. 1. Since prices are fairly well stabilized by government loans, this increase in output will be reflected in increased farm income."

The department said the cash farm income, including government payments to farmers for compliance with production adjustment programs, totaled $6,175,000,000 for the first nine months of this year compared with $5,791,000,000 in the same period last year. Government payments were reported at $542,000,000 compared with $558,000,000 a year ago. The income by products this year and last, respectively, included:

Grains $787,000,000 and $657,000,000; fruits $292,000,000 and $275,000,000; vegetables $501,000,000 and $464,000,000; tobacco $142,000,000 and $128,000,000; meat animals $1,669,000,000 and $1,581,00,000; dairy products $1,132,000,000 and $1,020,000,000, and poultry and eggs $514,000,000 and $510,000,000.

The department's report on farm income by states for August for last year and this, respectively, included:

Ohio $28,230,000 and $33,158,000; Indiana $23,821,000 and $26,725,000; West Virginia $4,488,000 and $4,648,000; Kentucky $10,247,000 and $10,692,000.

MARION TEACHERS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

City, County Schools Will Be Closed Next Friday.

Marion city and county public schools will be closed a week from today for opening sessions of the annual two-day fall convention of the Central Ohio Teachers' association at Columbus.

Ten thousand teachers are expected to be present for the opening session at 9 a. m. on Friday. Two sessions have been scheduled for the morning, one in the Columbus auditorium at which Dr. Mary Ellen Chase of Smith college and Dr. Harry Rimmer of Duluth, Minn., will be speakers, and the other at Memorial hall, at which Mrs. Claude Lolspeich of the Lolspeich school in Cincinnati, and Dr. Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago will speak.

Friday afternoon there will be 31 departmental sessions which will be addressed by leaders in every phase of educational work.

Friday night at Memorial hall Dr. Edgar C. Doudna will discuss "Storm Over Education." Dr. H. V. Kaltenborn, noted radio commentator, will speak at 9 a. m. Saturday on "We Look at the War."

Kenneth West of Mt. Vernon is president of the association and G. C. Dietrich of Piqua is executive secretary.

CONTRACT FOR HARDIN CO. ROAD JOB AWARDED

A contract has been let by the state highway department for improvement of a section of the Findlay-Kenton road, including grading, drainage and construction of a concrete bridge over the Cessna creek, according to a news report from Columbus. The contract was awarded to Churchill Bros. Co. of Lima for $14,592. The highway department previously had estimated the work would cost $17,600.

YOUR HEALTH

Contrast Baths

Special kinds of light or heat are not necessary for the successful treatment of arthritis. A home-made baker is suggested by the Council on Physical Therapy of the American Medical Association.

It can be constructed out of an ordinary piece of sheet tin curved in a roof-like fashion on a framework of strap iron or rods. Two double electric sockets are attached to the under surface of the roof and the necessary wiring installed. Bulbs of either 60 or 120 watts, or a combination may be inserted. In short, the thing is a sort of half barrel-shaped arrangement which sits on the bed over the legs and gives them a good warming. Clamp lamps can be used in the same way for arthritis of the shoulder or wrist.

Contrast baths constitute a form of treatment discovered comparatively recently, which is very effective and is certainly typically suited to a be a form of home treatment. Contrast baths consist in rapid alternations of immersion in hot and cold water. Obviously they are most convenient for arthritis of the extremities—the feet or hands, but they can be arranged for the elbows or knees. They are especially recommended for arthritis in connection with cold and clammy skin of the extremities.

A Simple Procedure

The procedure is simplicity itself. Obtain two pans or buckets big enough to immerse both hands or both feet. Also a clock. The clock is important. Also a thermometer. One container should be filled with water at the temperature of 105 to 110 degrees F. The other should be filled with cool tap water at about 55 to 60 degrees F.

Experience has worked out quite a definite schedule which gives the best reactions. It used to be advised that the feet or hands should be immersed first in the hot and then in the cold water at one minute intervals, ending with the hot. Experimental studies on the dilatation and relaxation of the blood vessels, which is the object to be obtained, has shown that best results are obtained when immersion in the hot water is carried out for six minutes and the cold for four.

Many patients cannot endure such long periods of cold immersion, and the exact timing can be modified so long as the hot immersion is longer than the cold, and that the cold is carried out for at least two minutes. This may seem pedantic, but it is in accord with the changes in size of the smaller blood vessels which follow quite definite time schedules.

At the Mayo Clinic they carry out hot-cold immersions at the following intervals of minutes: 5-2-5-2-5-2-5. A treatment thus lasts about half an hour. Treatments should be given three or four times a day.

NEW YORK—Shades of King Arthur!

Men and women in warring countries should adopt a 1940 version of the armor worn when knighthood was in flower, says Stephen Grancsay, curator of arms and armor at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Grancsays says a suitable outfit could be manufactured in mass production for less than $100. He contends many serious wounds could be prevented if people were given such protection from shrapnel fragments, falling debris and spent bullets.

To objectors who argue that armor-clad civilians wouldn't have sufficient mobility, Grancsay retorts they'd have more than they now have hiding in air raid shelters.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. HEAD REPORTS ON CONVENTION

Mrs. Lois Spitler, county president, gave a report of the state convention held in Cincinnati last week at a meeting of Frances Willard W. C. T. U. Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emma Bain of Wallace street. It was announced that all unions in the city will hold at least one meeting at the CCC camp during th eyear. Mrs. Bain, legislative chairman, urged the members to devote a great deal of attention to national and state legislation. The union enrolled 20 new members during the year, the records showed. Mrs. Nettie Orians, treasurer, presented her report for the year. The meeting was the first of the union's new year.

New Soviet War Lord Shakes up the Russian Army

MOSCOW — (CORRESPONDENCE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)—Marshal Semion Timoshenko, the former peasant who became a war lord, has converted Russia's armed forces into something like a foreign regular army and led it into six neighboring countries in his first six months as commissar for defense.

Little known before this, he has now become one of the most familiar and popular of the Soviet leaders.

After the occupation of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, and conversion of the Baltic states into Soviet republics Timoshenko embarked on his program of reform of the Red army.

Army organs later disclosed the reform was ordered by Stalin personally, to be "based on the experience of recent wars." This, presumably, meant both Russia's campaign in Finland, and the western European war.

Generals and other officers' ranks replaced the old system of commanders. Political commissars, who shared authority with the commanders, were reduced to the status of assistants.

The high command was shaken up. Discipline was tightened. The salute was introduced, decorations were awarded for merit, and guard house punishments for failure were made more severe. Training was intensified.

Apart from the military, Timoshenko also has political duties. He became a member of the political bureau of the central committee of the Communist party in the Ukraine, the highest authority for that province, in 1938.

Since then, he has been elected a deputy to the supreme Soviet council, and made a member of presidium and the foreign affairs committee of the supreme council.

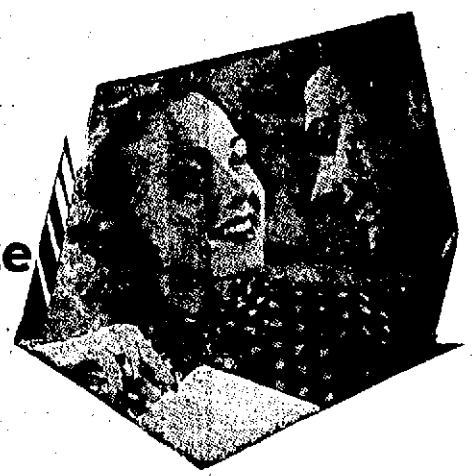
MONEY
To Consolidate
Your Debts


Many of the people who borrow from us do so to pay off long-due bills and scattered installment accounts. You can do this—and be cash ahead!
HERE'S WHAT YOU DO: Get all your bills and installment payments together. Also, figure out how much additional money you need for immediate purchases. We will advance the cash you require, promptly.
You then have only ONE place to pay, instead of many, and only ONE payment to make each month.
Moreover, you actually REDUCE your monthly expenses because your monthly payment on your loan is considerably LESS than were all your scattered payments together.
Strange Facts About Money
Fishhooks, old as it seems, were long used for money in India and Ceylon. Gradually the fishhooks themselves gave way to bent wires resembling fishhooks but having no real utility in fishing.

HOW AXIS MOVES TOWARD EAST CONCERN RUSSIA

Keeping in mind recent axis moves and Germany's aims for a drive to the east," Russia faces a four-fold problem of defending her rich Ukraine (checked shading) and her oil: (1) She must guard against a German drive through the Polish region, or (2) across the Rumanian border; (3) with the axis eyeing Bulgaria and Greece, Russia must consider possible axis seizure of the Dardanelles and the narrow Bosporus strait at Istanbul, Russia's only southern sea outlet. (4) Russia, in addition, must think of her oil fields dangerously close to her southern border near the Black Sea, and the possibility of a Near East war if the axis drives through Turkey to Syria (5) and the oil fields beyond.

Model Airplane Show Scheduled for November 3

Will Take Place on Farms in Big Island Township.

Plans for a model airplane show Sunday afternoon, Nov. 3 were announced today by officers of the Marion Gasoline Model Airplane club. It will be the second show sponsored by the club this fall.

The Nov. 3 show will be held at Big Island on the Fred Guthery and Red Top farms, which were selected by the club recently as exceptionally fine sites for flying model airplanes. The public has been invited to attend the show and no admission charge will be made, club officers have announced.

Fifty prizes are to be awarded for the outstanding performances of rubber-propelled and gasoline-powered planes and entries are expected from at least eight counties, Verlin F. Haines, president of the club, reported today. Mr. Haines is urging all model plane enthusiasts in Marion and nearby counties to enter the events and in order to stimulate interest in the show there will be no entry fee.

Arrangements are in charge of a committee composed of Ted Rhoads, Charles Silber, Kenneth Bower and Mr. Haines.

Arrangements for the show are to be completed at a meeting of the plane club at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night at 8 and those planning to enter models in the show have been asked to attend if possible. Entries may be filed at the Y.

2,000 SET AS FOOD EVENT ATTENDANCE

800 at Final Session of Gas Company Institute.

Approximately 2,000 persons attended the three-day food institute of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. in The Star auditorium, those in charge estimated today. About 800 were at the closing session Thursday afternoon

Miss Louise McFarland food specialist, was assisted by Miss Pauline Schofield, local home service representative of the company, and C. J. Mortley, institute manager.

Recipes demonstrated Thursday included barbecued frankfurters, gingerbread, potato salad, a broiled meal, two salads, macaroni and cheese timbales, chocolate mint dessert, and a grapejuice apple cake.

Need for Renewal of School Levy Discussed at Kiwanis Club Meeting

The fact that the 3-mill school tax levy to be submitted at the Nov. 5 election is not a new form of taxation but merely a renewal of a levy in effect here for more than 20 years was emphasized yesterday by O. H. P. Snyder, principal of Harding High school, in a talk at a luncheon meeting of the Marion Kiwanis club at Hotel Marion.

Mr. Snyder, a member of the club, discussed what he termed "the three principal phases of the tax levy question." First he called attention to the fact that the levy is not a new tax, but pointed out that some voters may be misled by termunology of the proposal as it will appear on the ballot. The ballot will refer to it as "an additional tax," but this phrase means simply that the levy will be in addition to the 10-mill limit provided for by the state constitution and does not mean that the present tax rate in Marion will be increased

Funds Are Vital

The second point emphasized by Mr. Snyder was that that the 3-mill levy furnishes 24 per cent of the income of the city schools with 20.2 per cent coming from local taxation within the 10-mill limitation and 46.8 per cent from the state school foundation program. In other words, he said, the 3-mill levy accounts for nearly one-fourth of the total revenue of the schools and nearly one-half of the revenue from local taxes.

His third point was that both the cost of operating schools and the tax rate are lower in Marion than in the average city its size in Ohio. Of the 15 cities in the state between 30,000 and 100,000 population the average levy for financing schools is 6.4 mills as compared to a total of 4.5 mills in Marion including the 3-mills obtained from the special levy. Of the 109 cities in the state 93 have tax rates higher than the present tax rate in Marion which includes the special 3-mill school levy.

Enthusiasm over the need for renewing the school levy was shown by Kiwanians during the question period that followed Mr. Snyder's talk. Harold J. Grigsby said that in checking over tax figures recently he discovered the cost of operating schools in Marion was lower than in any of the other eight cities comparable to Marion in size. He urged members of the club to "actively" support the levy by speaking to their friends and acquaintances in its behalf.

Auditor Cites Danger

Harry V. Mounts, county auditor, pointed out that if the levy is rejected it will have a harmful effect not only upon the school system but also upon the city and county governments. He explained that if the levy fails the county budget commission would be required by law to increase the amount paid to the schools within the 10-mill limitation and that consequently it would be necessary to decrease the amount now allocated for maintaining the city and county governments.

A member of the club asked what would result if the levy is rejected and Mr. Snyder referred the question to Supt. E. E. Holt, who was a guest at the luncheon. Mr. Holt said he could see two alternative courses which might be followed: first, reduction of school costs by reducing the amount spent for instruction and second, shortening the school year to eight months or less.

The first alternative, reducing salaries of teachers, would have a "decidedly harmful effect" on the school system because it would automatically lower the calibre of faculty available, Mr. Holt said. Teachers' salaries already are 23 per cent lower here than in the average of the 15 Ohio cities in Marion's population group, he pointed out.

The second alternative, shortening the school year, would not only decrease the educational opportunities available for the children of Marion but also would increase the school system's financial difficulties. Payments made under the school foundation program are based on the length of the school year and consequently the schools would receive less aid from the state if the school year is shortened, he explained.

The meeting was in charge of T. A. Allen, member of the club and visiting teacher in the city schools.

STORM HALTS 2 ARMY BOMBERS AT CINCINNATI

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 25 — Rain and thunderstorms forced two four-motored army bombers (B-17's) to land at Lunken airport today while enroute from March Field, Calif., to Mitchell Field, Long Island.

The ships were among eight which took off last night from Albuquerque, N. Mex., intending to make an intermediate stop at Wright Field, Dayton, O.

ST. MARY WINS UP-HILL BATTLE, BEATS MANSFIELD MADISON

Blocked Punt, Recovered Fumble Pave Way for Only Score of Game.

Crippled but courageous, Marion St. Mary gridmen battled a superior force on even terms, made their own scoring opportunity and then took full advantage of it to defeat Mansfield Madison, 6-0, on the latter's home field last night.

Carl Werley, veteran Irish tackle, blocked a Madison punt on the 20-yard line and a recovered fumble that followed paved the way for the game's only score. Ray Murphy lugged the touchdown on a three-yard plunge through center. Murphy and Bob Moloney had alternated in picking up the yardage which preceded the score.

A trio of Irish cripples, Ted Schuler, Dave Rochford and Pat Tobin, saw action in part of the game. Schuler, regular left half and the Saints' sparkplug, left the game in the second period. Rochford managed to play all of the first half, while Tobin, who is recovering from a cracked shoulder, played all except the closing 10 minutes.

Schuler's importance to the Irish club, or rather the accomplishment of winning without his services in the second half is noteworthy. Prior to last night's game he had scored all of St. Mary's eight touchdowns.

More complete detail of the game follows:

St. Mary kicked off to open the contest and Madison passed from its own 30-yard line on the first play. Madison players' ground attack netted a first down before an exchange of punts gave them possession on the 35. It was largely a midfield battle during the remainder of the first period, St. Mary holding the ball at the close.

Schuler booted out of bounds on the 40. Windsor broke away on a 17-yard run for Madison. A pass was incomplete and a second aerial attempt was intercepted by McGinnis to give the Saints possession on their own 30. A punt exchange followed. Schuler's pass was intercepted by Winn and Madison held the ball at midfield as the half ended.

Loses Ball on Downs

Murphy made a 19-yard return of Weimer's half-time kickoff. McGinnis picked up a first down on a reverse and then punted, the ball going into the end zone. Windsor's boot was blocked by Werley and the Irish held the ball 20 yards out. Four line plays were stopped and St. Mary lost the ball on downs. Windsor's pass was knocked down and St. Mary recovered a fumble, scoring two plays later when Murphy went through center for the touchdown. An attempt to drop kick the extra point by McGinnis was unsuccessful. The kick-off was taken on Madison's 30 at the end of the third quarter.

An exchange of punts gave Madison possession on the 38, and a Windsor-to-Weimer pass was good for a first down on the St. Mary 48. Another pass, Weimer-to-Heichel, followed by a lateral to Hammer was good for 19 yards. The momentary threat was erased when Werley intercepted a pass.

SPORTS — THE MARION STAR

Grid Fans on Edge for Reagon-Harmon Duel

A sparkling battle is expected at Ann Arbor, Mich., tomorrow when unbeaten Pennsylvania, boasting triple-threat Frank Reagon, tangles with unbeaten Michigan, led by All-American Tom Harmon.

Reagen, shown lugging the ball at the left in the above picture, paces one of the best Penn teams in history. Coach George Munger credits good-natured "mothering" of football players by fellow students at the school for much of the success this season. The student body feels a responsibility toward the team, even cooperate by keeping quiet so that players can sleep.

Harmon, pictured at the right, paces the powerful Wolverine attack, which features not only his running but the powerful blocking of Evashevski and the plunging of Westfall.

Penn has beaten Princeton, Maryland and Yale while Michigan has taken California, Harvard and Illinois.

Harding Grid Squad To Be Hosts To Strong Shelby Combine Here Tonight

Marion Harding footballers, finding some consolation in "half a loaf is better than none," today faced the stark reality that they must either stop Shelby's vaunted grid machine or very likely go without even a morsel of the North Central Ohio conference banner.

Shelby comes to Harding stadium tonight, unbeaten in three league starts, and scheduled to meet only the cellar-dwelling Galion Orangemen after tonight's battle. If they can go home victorious or earn even a tie, the Whippets are better than an even bet to const the rest of the way to the 1940 title.

The Presidents show promise of giving the visitors some of the toughest competition they've faced this season, despite the fact that the locals made a miserable showing in losing to Bucyrus a week ago. Coach Bill Williams indicated that a trio of his regulars may be kept on the sidelines by injuries. All are linemen and two of them veterans.

Owen Creasap, captain and right end, and Pete Bascos, left tackle, are suffering from minor hurts which Williams said today may keep them out of the ball game. Kemmerly, regular left end, also may be idle as the result of a knee injury. Richardson will take over the latter's post and in the event that Creasap is unable to start, either Bowers or Keller may be nominated for the right flank, Williams reported.

Tonight's game, which is expected to draw one of the largest home crowds of the current season is to begin at 7:45.

FIVE UNBEATEN OHIO TEAMS FACE FIGHTS

Three Contests Set for Tonight as Openers.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 25—Five undefeated Ohio college football teams meet strong foes in this week-end's gridiron menu which opens with three games tonight.

Tonight's contests pit Baldwin Wallace at Akron, Findlay at Bluffton, and Otterbein at Transylvania, Lexington, Ky.

Heidelberg, riding high atop the Ohio Conference, plays at Alliance Saturday a Mount Union college team which is always tough for the Student Princes.

Mount Union has failed to score a point this year, but last year, the Raiders, after winning only one game in six, beat the Princes 34-0.

Unbeaten Case tangles with Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh and Kent State meets Washington and Jefferson at Washington, Pa., in Saturday's biggest attractions.

Ohio University and Ohio Wesleyan will meet at Delaware to keep up an old rivalry as will Muskingum and Wooster at Wooster.

Wittenberg is expected to take Lawrence Tech at Detroit and the other undefeated eleven, Oberlin, should have little trouble with Swarthmore at Swarthmore, Pa.

Other Saturday games: Miami-Western Reserve at Cleveland, Dayton-Cincinnati at Cincinnati, Bowling Green-Capital at Columbus, Ashland-Ohio Northern at Ada, Marietta-Denison at Granville, Tennessee Tech-Youngstown at Youngstown, Allegheny-Hiram at Hiram, Toledo-Western State Teachers at Kalamazoo, Mich., and Defiance-Grand Rapids at Grand Rapids, Mich.

John Carroll plays Xavier at Cincinnati Sunday while De Sales of Toledo goes to Loretto, Pa., to play St. Francis.

Gehrig, 10 Yanks Bring $3,500,000 Action for Libel

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 — Libel suits seeking a total of $3,500,000 have been filed by 10 New York Yankee baseball players and Lou Gehrig, former Yankee, against Jimmy Powers, sports editor of the New York Daily News, and the News Syndicate, Inc.

Samuel L. Sargent, attorney for the players, said the suits are based upon an article and a cartoon which appeared in the Sunday News August 18. The suits charge that Powers made libelous statements in the article "in an attempt to explain the reason for a slump in the team's playing."

The News later published a page article under this headline: "The News Apologizes To Lou Gehrig and the Yankees."

One suit, for $2,500,000 has been brought by Yankee pitchers Lefty Gomez, John Murphy, Monte Pearson, Atley Donald, Oral Hildebrand, Charles Ruffing and Steve Sundra; second baseman Joe Gordon, catcher Bill Dickey and third baseman Red Rolfe.

The other suit, for $1,000,000 has been brought by Gehrig, who retired from the Yankees in June 1939, when his ailment was described by the Mayo Brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., as "amyothrophic lateral sclerosis, a form of chronic poliomyelitis (Infantile paralysis).

Boston Wool

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct. 25—There was a slackening tendency in the demand for wool on the Boston market today, Asking prices on greasy combing domestic wools, however, remained quite firm despite the slower demand. The very moderate volume of business that was being transacted was mostly on fine and half blood grades, and prices were within range quoted earlier in the week. Demand for foreign wool was also slackening compared with the week early in the week.

OHIO GUARDSMEN START YEAR OF TRAINING AT CAMP SHELBY

Getting settled in their new "homes" for a year was the chief business of advance units of Ohio's 37th National Guard division as they arrived at Camp Shelby, Miss. The great tent city, which has sprung up almost overnight, began swarming with men who are beginning their tour of active army service.

LIGHT SELLING STILL HOLDING

Some Leaders Contest General Market Trend Toward Lower Levels.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 — Light selling persisted in today's stock market although air transports, steels and scattered specialties contested the trend.

Industrials wavered at the start in a fair show of activity. Dealings subsequently slowed and losses running to a point were trimmed near the fourth hour or replaced with modest advances.

Potential buyers, brokers said, still were handicapped by the apparently unsolved problems of war, taxes and politics, and the majority either continued to step carefully or cut their commitments on the long side.

Some notice was taken of tire corporation stocks as the Rubber Manufacturers' association estimated September shipments of casings exceeded the August aggregate by 8.1 per cent.

In the matter of steels, attention was given the remarks of Chairman Girdler of Republic. He warned consumers not to create an artificial shortage of the metal by purchasing beyond their current needs, as he said some were doing. The official stressed that the nation's mill capacity was sufficient for all defense and other purposes if an orderly buying course is maintained.

PROFIT TAKING SENDS WHEAT PRICE LOWER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 25—Profit taking lowered wheat prices as much as ½ to ¾ cent a bushel at times today but the market recovered most of the loss before the close.

The late rally was associated with a steadier tone of the stock market, complaints of dry soil conditions in parts of the southwest, peace talk coming from Europe and some buying credited to mills and attracted by the earlier price decline.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¼ lower compared with yesterday, December 80½-⅝; May 85-85⅛; corn ⅜-½ down, December 62¾-¼, May 62⅞; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, Oct 26

PROGRESS and advancement in certain directions are indicated by this day's planetary operations, although it may demand the most astute and cautious procedure in order to reach such auspicious circumstances There is sign of a possible disruptive and radical force at work threatening to undermine and destroy not only with drastic precision, but with much subtlety and craft, working from within as well as without But by careful plans self-restraint, strategy and the assistance of those in power and influence the worst may be sidestepped if not definitely routed Be particularly alert to frauds through writings, contracts, etc

Those whose birthday it is may not be surprised to have a sudden and strange force drastically decend upon ambitious projects disintegrating and uprooting with whirlwind efficacy, unless more than unassailable plans are sagaciously worked out and also unless such threatened projects have the substantial support of those in unshakable prestige and dependability Many subtle as well as open attacy may menace especially through the misconstruction or fraudulent purpose of writings, documents or contracts Be wary and cautious every step and this devastating situation may be annihilated, and progress ensue

A child born on this day although capable and ambitious, with much initiative and creative ability, yet may suffer from its own rash, impulsive or erratic tendencies urging it on to over audacious and quixotic schemes

The invention of an airplane motor with half as many parts as a standard is for that produces twice as much power as other motors of the same displacement is claimed by two Texas men
